Airplane Hunt On For Slayer Suspects

THICKET IS VIEWED IN SEARCH

Los Alamitos Fugitives In Wooded Territory, Belief of Sheriff Deputies

AUTO BEARING OTHER OFFICERS ON SCENE

Detection In Willows Not Difficult If Persons Sought Not Hid

Deputy Sheriff Ed McClellan returned here at 1 p. m. today from an airplane flight over the Los Alamitos thickets with the report that he had sighted traces of an abandoned camp in the willows which he believed had been occupied by Villa Lopez and Juan Lorenzo, suspected murderers. There was no evidence, he said, to indicate the wanted men were still in the thicket.

Orange county's first murder hunt by airplane was conducted today. Containing Lieutenant Floyd Kelso, as pilot, and Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy on the staff of Sheriff Sam Jernigan, an airplane circled above a dense thicket of willows near Los Alamitos suspected of containing Villa Lopez and Juan Lorenzo, accused players of Tomas Alvarez at the sugar town last Sunday night.

Meanwhile, Motorcycle Officer Frank Stewart and Deputy Sheriff Jesse Elliott patrolled the outer limits of the willows in an automobile, watching for a signal from the airplane overhead.

Heavily Armed
Armed with a revolver, a sawed-off shotgun and a pair of field glasses, McClellan boarded the airplane west of Garden Grove.

At 12 o'clock when the fliers had failed to return, G. W. Mansperger, aviator, announced that he would take pursuit in another plane to ascertain if McClellan and Lieutenant Kelso needed assistance.

Lorenzo and Lopez, the wanted men who were believed to have been hiding in the vast area of thick willows, are accused of murdering Alvarez Sunday night as he stood in the doorway of his home in Los Alamitos.

The shooting of Alvarez apparently was a case of mistaken identity, it was said, the killers having gone to the Alvarez home in search of Pablo Marquez, with whom the pair had quarreled earlier in the evening.

Detection Easy
It was reported that Marquez had been threatened by the other two Mexicans, and when he later heard voices outside his home calling him to the door, Alvarez went instead and was shot the instant the door was opened.

It will be impossible for the airplane containing the officer to land in the willows, but the aviators explained it would be an easy matter to ascertain if persons were hiding in the thicket.

"A man hiding in a tree is plainly visible to a person in an airplane," Lieutenant Kelso told the officers before the flight. "And we have been flying over the willows so often that the criminals, if they are concealed there are not likely to suspect our purpose and crawl under brush. I really believe it will not be difficult for us to spot their camp if we happen to fly near the vicinity of the suspected murderers."

SOCIALISTS TAKE STEPS TO END WAR

New Denmark Government to Reduce Army and Navy and Slash Military Budget.

COPENHAGEN, May 2.—The new socialist government proposes that Denmark shall be the first nation in the world to disarm completely.

The government next autumn intends to introduce a bill providing for a reduction of the army and navy to a few necessary frontier guards. Only a few soldiers and boats will be retained. Military and naval appropriations will be reduced to one-seventh the present budget.

REPORT INDIAN TRIBES PLAN UPRISING

(By United Press Leased Wire) SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—J. B. Nash, Northern California representative of the Indian welfare association, John Collier, head of the American Indian defense association and S. F. Hoffman, welfare worker among the Santa Barbara, Cal., Indians left here hurriedly today for Southern California to seek out a secret "pow wow" of Pueblo Indians.

They received reports that the "Pow Wow" would be held next week and an uprising planned in protest against alleged efforts by the Indian bureau and department of interior to end certain tribal religious rites. Twelve thousand Indians are said to be involved.

Indians have been told, according to word here, that troops might be used to break up their dances and suppress their customs.

Fear Tot Fatally Hurt in Accident

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—Richard Keeney, 5, was rushed to the general hospital in a dying condition today after being struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Peresi. The boy's legs were broken and his chest crushed. Peresi was held on suspicion of manslaughter.

HALTS ARMS SHIPMENTS INTO CUBA

Coolidge Acts to Prevent Spread of Revolt at Zayas' Request

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, May 2.—President Coolidge issued a proclamation today declaring an embargo on the sale and shipment of arms to Cuba.

In an accompanying announcement by the state department it was revealed that the Cuban government formally requested the embargo because of revolutionary conditions existing in the islands.

HAVANA, May 2.—The situation created by revolt of a number of soldiers in Santa Clara province assumed more serious proportions today following a persistent report that General Veley has landed on the north coast and will assume charge of the movement against the government of President Zayas.

Armando Soto, brother of the secretary of the veterans and patriots' association, was reported killed when government troops fired on rebels in a clash at Abreus, in Santa Clara province, late yesterday.

The military has issued an order for search of all automobiles and other vehicles leaving Havana for the interior.

President Zayas has asked an appropriation of $1,000,000 to combat the rebellion.

The United States cruiser Cleveland has arrived in Havana harbor.

Unconfirmed reports tell of a number of clashes between government forces and rebels.

All demonstrations scheduled for Labor day yesterday were suspended.

A new uprising was reported in the province of Cienfuegos.

The government has put a censorship on news from the interior and the press has been asked to print only such reports as are authorized.

Alleged Aide Freed
Charles R. Wheeler, Anaheim post office registry clerk, a co-defendant with Abernathy, was freed by the jury, which returned its verdict yesterday.

The robbery for which the Anaheim educator must go to prison was committed December 27, last.

The money, in small currency, was being mailed out by an Anaheim bank. Empty mail pouch was substituted for the one containing the funds.

It was several weeks before an arrest was ordered. Findlay was arrested first. He confessed, naming Abernathy and Wheeler as co-conspirators in the theft.

NOTED BUILDER PASSES
SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The body of Edward Thompson, creator and builder of the Yale bowl and the Sheepshead Bay speedway, who died here of heart disease Thursday, was shipped to New Haven, Conn., today, in care of his widow.

SETTLE $500,000 SUIT
NEW YORK, May 2.—The $500,000 damage suit of Helene Jessmer, former follies girl, against Philip Plant, youthful millionaire, was settled by agreement between the litigants here today.

The amount Miss Jessmer will receive was not made public.

5-YEAR TERM IMPOSED ON ABERNATHY

Former School Head Also Sentenced to Pay Fine of $10,000

Joseph R. Abernathy, former superintendent of schools of Anaheim, was today sentenced to five years' imprisonment in Leavenworth federal penitentiary and fined $20,000 for his part in the theft of $20,000 in registered mail from the Anaheim post office.

Federal Judge Bledsoe at Los Angeles, in pronouncing sentence, decreed that Abernathy must remain in prison until the fine is paid, should he be unable to raise the amount by the time his five-year sentence has expired.

Motion for a new trial, made by Attorneys W. R. Gilbert and W. F. Menton, defense counsel, was denied.

File Error Writ
A writ of error was then filed, which the court allowed, setting Abernathy's bail at $30,000. He was remanded to the custody of the United States marshal pending procurement of the bail.

J. Lloyd Findlay, Anaheim mail carrier, who pleaded guilty to complicity in the crime and was state's evidence during Abernathy's trial, will come up for sentence following the return of Deputy United States Attorney Russell Graham, who prosecuted Abernathy, the court announced.

Graham is now in Fresno on another case.

J. U. Hemmi, Torrance real estate dealer, charged with receiving part of the stolen funds, will be tried at a later date.

COALITION BLOCKS TAX ACT CHANGE

Democrats and Progressives Join Forces to Defeat Proposal Made by Mellon.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The Democrat-Progressive coalition won its first important victory on the tax bill in the senate today. The coalition defeated an amendment proposed by Republicans which they charged would adversely affect tax exempt securities.

The vote was 37 to 36. Only six Democrats bolted to vote with the Republicans while seven Progressives voted with the Democrats.

The amendment, which was defeated, provided specifically that a tax payer cannot deduct in capital loss or interest paid except those sums which exceed his income from tax exempt securities.

It had been recommended by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

HINTS NEED OF INCREASE IN NAVY FUNDS

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, May 2.—The possible necessity of a new naval construction program involving enormous expenditure today engaged the attention of members of the house naval affairs committee.

So far this session the committee has reported construction bills authorizing the building of eight cruisers at $11,000,000 each and the reconconditioning of six first line ships at a cost of over $18,000,000.

But the report of Admiral R. E. Coontz that the navy was in many fundamental respects far below arms pact strength has awakened the committee to the possible requirement of a thorough going general construction program.

As the first step in this, Representative Britten, ranking Republican of the committee, yesterday introduced a bill authorizing $6,500,000 to elevate the turret guns of thirteen battleships.

As the next step he prepared today a resolution providing for a complete investigation of the state of the navy by the committee.

Such an investigation, he said, would continue for several months and result in a report on just what the navy required to bring it back to par. This, he said, he had been informed, might require a construction program costing a great deal of money.

Before preparing his plan for the gun elevation and general investigation, Britten, accompanied by Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee, conferred with President Coolidge. Britten said the President approved of the investigation outlined in Britten's resolution.

DESPOUNDENT MAN KILLS TOTS, SELF

Plans For "A Good Funeral" When Wife Leaves With Another

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Despondent because his wife had left him, George A. Lohse today shot and killed two of his children, probably fatally wounded a third, and then shot and killed himself.

Neighbors, aroused by the fusillade of shots, rushed into the Lohse home and found the two children and their father dead on the floor and another child screaming with pain from an ugly wound.

The revolver with which the three lives had been ended was clutched in the man's hand.

Make Careful Plans
Lohse has brooded since his wife left with another man two weeks ago and apparently had made careful plans to end his own life and that of his children.

Several days ago he went to C. A. Anderson, an undertaker, and bought for $200 a burial plot and obtained from the undertaker prices and details for "a good funeral".

Today, according to the story police put together, he arose and armed with his revolver, went to the room where his three children, two girls and a boy, slept together in one bed, shot and instantly killed Betty, 5, Marion, 8, and probably fatally wounded Frank, aged 9.

Then he turned the revolver on himself, falling beside the bed.

In the man's pocket was found a business card bearing the name: A. A. Anderson "with a note scribbled on its reverse side.

The note read:
"Ring up this party as I was speaking to him about a funeral. As far as money is concerned, my insurance policy covers everything."

Lohse, a baker, told neighbors yesterday that he could not live without his wife.

Lohse had made all preparations for the funerals of himself and children, even to polishing three little pairs of shoes and his own boots, and placing them in a row against the wall in the room where his body was found.

A crudely drawn will and several notes were found in his effects, showing that the man who had lost all taste for life with the loss of his wife had not overlooked a detail in his plan for the murder of his little ones and his own self-destruction.

Wife Gets Property
All his possessions, with the exception of $1000 to his parents who live in Brooklyn, N. Y., $400 to the parents of his wife and a few trinkets which he wanted friends to have, were left to his wife. Expenses of the funerals were fully provided for by directions in the will.

One of the notes, addressed to his wife, told her:
"If you could only know my feelings, my plans, like I told you the morning I had to put such a load on your shoulders! God gave you strength to carry it, but tell me why, oh, why, you want things different? It is too late now. What is the good of talking about it?"

Leaves Note to Wife
Another also addressed to the wife who deserted him, said:
"You can have your choice, whether you want to rest with your husband and children or with the man who robbed me of everything."

A note, apparently intended for whoever should find the body, said:
"I hope God will forgive me for taking my children with me. Call me a coward if you want, but I tell you it takes nerve to do this thing that I am doing."

Gets $500,000

A court decision in Easton Mass., has given to Alice Eliza Kinsman a fortune of half a million dollars and, at the same time, established her legally as the daughter of the late Albert Kinsman, manufacturer. After separation from his first wife Kinsman refused to recognize his daughter, and upon his death, litigation ensued, the girl and her mother being victorious.

DEATH TOLL FROM STORM ON INCREASE

Latest Figures On Southern Tornado Disaster Place Loss of Life at 120.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 2.—The death list in the storm which swept six Southern states Tuesday and Wednesday mounted to 120 today as additional reports of casualties were received.

Appeals for outside assistance have been received from several towns devastated by the wind. Red Cross units were rushed to these places.

The dead include:
South Carolina 75; Georgia 14; Alabama 21; North Carolina 5; Louisiana 2; Arkansas 1; Virginia 1.

INDICT DESERT MINE OWNER FOR FRAUD

(By United Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, May 2.—Claimed to be among the largest frauds in California criminal history, grand jury indictment was today revealed against J. Addison Sheik, of the Monarch-Rand mining company.

Sheik, according to the complaint, has defrauded investors out of $390,000 on his representation that his property near Randsburg, in San Bernardino county, is worth $1,000,000. Investigation by Walter D. Abel, chief engineer for the state corporation commissioner, disclosed the holdings worth less than $40,000, it is claimed.

Sheik promised his investors 100 per cent dividends in six months, the complaint alleged. He sold shares in the enterprise at one-third face value.

It is also alleged that the promoter told investors his project was endorsed by State Corporation Commissioner Edwin M. Daugherty, whereas, it is said, his company was not even incorporated.

Sheik further stated that he and his family invested $50,000 in the mining venture, while District Attorney Keyes said no such investment has been unearthed.

Daugherty reported the result of his investigation to Keyes on April 1, and a grand jury probe was started immediately. Most of the alleged victims of the scheme are Los Angeles residents, it was said.

Dog Guarding Invalid Woman Is Hero After Battle With Thief

OAKLAND, Calif., May 2.—Although bruised and battered from a fifteen minute battle with a burglar in the darkness of the home of Miss Elizabeth Gross here early today, Tige, an Airedale, is the happiest dog on Magnolia street.

For Tige came to the aid of his invalid mistress, leaped upon the human prowler, ripped his clothing to shreds, drove him from the house and pursued him for a quarter of a mile.

Miss Gross heard the burglar enter the sleeping porch where she lies an invalid and go on into the house. Trembling with fright she arose, slipped into the kitchen and unleashed Tige.

"Go get him, boy," she whispered, and Tige went to it.

"Call him off, miss, call him off," entreated the burglar as he fought to keep the dog's fangs from his throat.

Then he turned, dived through the window and fled, with Tige snapping at his heels.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR DARING DUO

War Department Directs Other Pilots to Renew World Voyage

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The three army aviators at Dutch Harbor today were directed by the war department to resume their world flight despite the fact that Major Frederick L. Martin, commander, has not yet been found.

CORDOVA, May 2.—Fear that Major Frederick L. Martin and Sergeant Alva Harvey, U. S. A., may have given their lives in their efforts to make Stars and Stripes the first flag to be carried around the world by air, was growing today.

Up to a little before 10 a. m. no word had come from any source giving news of Major Martin and his mechanician.

In another hour it will have been 48 hours—two full days—since the seaplane Seattle, motor roaring and pilots undaunted, arose from the waters of Chignik inlet and plunged into the snow-laden Arctic winds, confident of beating the elements and arriving at Dutch Harbor within a few hours.

Since that moment nothing has been heard of the plane, or of the two men it carried.

Although more than a score of cutters, small boats, canyery tenders and launchers are sweeping the route between Chignik and Dutch Harbor in their search, they have reported no trace of the daring aviators.

Comb Entire Coast
Every tiny inlet, bay and nook of this frozen, storm swept coast and of the many islands nearby, is being searched.

The hunt will continue for days. But hope, although not by any means abandoned, was giving place to fear.

No such intensive search of Arctic waters has ever been made as that which was under way today as every effort of the navy, the coast guard service and of the private enterprises of Alaska, was turned to finding the fearless commander and his mechanician.

Regarded as Bold
The two are becoming to be regarded as among the most daring men who have braved the dangers of the frozen north.

The coast guard cutters Haida and Algonquin are leading the search. The geological survey ship Pioneer has joined with them. Working in close co-operation are a score of small fishing boats and gasoline canyery tenders.

The Haida left Dutch Harbor yesterday morning and began patrolling the western end of Martin's route. The Algonquin and the Pioneer are working farther east.

No nook of the rugged coast is being overlooked. Even the little coves which are too small for the cutters to enter are searched by small boats put off from their mother ships which await off shore.

Comb All Inlets.
The small fishing boats and canyery tenders are dashing in and out of the coves and inlets and visiting the tiny islands which are no even shown on most maps, but which abound off the coast.

Twelve small craft of the coast guard service, co-operative with the cutter Algonquin, were concentrated in the district immediately west of Chignik today, thoroughly searching every inlet, on the theory that Martin met trouble soon after departure from Chignik.

Weather yesterday was a little more favorable. The wind at several points along the route between Chignik and Dutch Harbor, having completely subsided. Skies were cloudy, making visibility poor, however. There were indications of favorable weather today.

Fear Supplies Low
Just what food supplies Major Martin and Sergeant Harvey may have with them was causing some anxiety today. They took only emergency rations from Chignik, as far as is known, and these may be exhausted by now or, if their plane was damaged or wrecked, the supplies may have been lost.

2 S. A. Youths Held in Auto Theft, Confined

Charged with stealing an enclosed automobile in Pomona and leaving the car in Los Angeles, stealing a touring car in Fullerton and finally being arrested at the San Diego county line by Deputy Sheriffs Ed McClellan and Joe Ryan, two boys, 13 and 16 years old, today were sent by County Probation Officer R. R. Miller to Pacific Lodge, Pomona, where they will be confined; according to a report at the sheriff's office here.

The boys decided to run away from their homes last Tuesday when they stole the automobile in Pomona, according to the officers. The car was abandoned by the lads Wednesday morning at Florence and Vermont avenues, Los Angeles. At Fullerton the youngsters drove away in the touring car of A. Miller and were headed toward Tia Juana when overtaken by the Orange county deputies at the county line.

CLEVELAND NOW SEEKING 1928 CONVENTION

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 2.—Cleveland already has begun planning to bring the 1928 Republican convention to the fifty city, according to James J. E. Jappe, secretary of the Cleveland convention committee.

Cleveland is going to provide so well for the comfort and entertainment of the delegates and visitors to the Republican convention here in June that they will want to come back, Jappe said.

The strategic position of Cleveland makes it a fine convention city, Jappe pointed out. More than one-half of the population of the United States lives within 500 miles of this city. Seven railroads from the East, West and South, meeting here, make it a great railroad center. Big lake steamers connect the city by water routes with all the important ports on the Great Lakes.

Cleveland itself is admirably laid out for a convention city, Jappe said. Imagine the dot on the map for Cleveland as the business district—about a square mile. Within this "dot" is the public Auditorium, where the convention will be held, most all of the hotels and theatres and principal business houses. Extending out in a radius of eight miles are the residential districts.

Cleveland has nineteen hotels, a dozen theaters and a score or more movie theaters, twenty parks, a Museum of Art, Museum of Natural History and a Zoological Gardens.

Cleveland's finest bathing beach is located at Edgewater Park, which has 6,000 feet lake frontage. Luna Park and Euclid Beach Park compare favorably with Coney Island in their attractions.

The Cleveland American League ball team will be playing at home all during the convention. On June 10, the opening day of the convention, by a coincidence, the Washington Senators will be the opponents of the Indians. Boston opens a four days' series on June 11 and the New York Yankees on June 15.

Mrs. Nettie M. Clapp, former Ohio State Representative, is the only woman on the G. O. P. convention committee of fourteen. She is chairman of the Woman's Committee.

"Our aim will be to find out what the visiting women want and then see that they get it," Mrs. Clapp told the United Press.

"Hundreds of daily hostesses will take care of all the hotels, so that no matter where the women may be there will be someone looking after their comfort and entertainment," she said.

SEEK BURGLAR WHO LOOTED S. A. HOME

Members of the police department and sheriff's office today were searching for burglars who made a large haul late yesterday at the home of W. Perazzi on Prospect avenue near Seventeenth street.

Among the articles reported stolen were thirty-six linen handkerchiefs, a beaded handbag, woman's wrist watch, man's gold watch and chain, a knife, pearl and diamond lavallier, anethyst necklace, string of solid gold beads, ring with ruby and pearl sets, two plain gold rings, woman's cape, two suits of men's clothing, an overcoat, shirt, traveling bag and woman's fur neckpiece.

The thief entered the home through the back door by the aid of a pass-key, it was reported by Under-Sheriff Ed French, who investigated the robbery.

Footprints formed the only clue for the officers, it was stated.

London Bridge has been burned down six times.

S. A. KIN TOLD DEATH ESCAPE OF AERONAUT

That Ward T. Van Orman, pilot of the Goodyear III, winning balloon in the national elimination races held last week at San Antonio, Texas, had a narrow escape from death when his balloon landed in front of an oncoming train, was revealed today in letters received by his aunt, Eleanor Young Elliott, and his cousin, Miss Margaret King of this city.

Van Orman was in the air forty-three hours, establishing the American record for long distance flight which entitles him to enter the international races in Brussels in June. In the elimination race, his balloon landed directly on the tracks, dragging telephone wires and poles down with it. Van Orman and his aide barely had time to land and flag the train which completely demolished the basket.

All balloons in the race were equipped with radios and Thursday night, April 24, at midnight, Van Orman picked up a message his young wife sent from Cleveland, expressing her faith that he would win over the other six entrants. While the letters relating details of the flight failed to state his mileage, it is known to have surpassed the former American distance record of 1172.9 miles.

Van Orman was commissioned lieutenant during the World War. He is head of the aeronautic field of the Goodyear company at Akron, O.

LANDIS SCORES PRESIDENT IN SENATE QUIZ

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis furnished a new thrill today at the senate investigation of former Attorney General Daugherty. Landis took the stand to give details in the case of Phil Grossman, a Chicago saloon keeper, pardoned by President Coolidge.

Senator Wheeler, Montana, committee "prosecutor" read a letter from C. W. Middlekauff, special assistant attorney general at Chicago, in which he said that Landis had refused to recommend a pardon for Grossman.

Grossman was sentenced to a year in jail by Landis for contempt of court in a liquor violation case. The saloon keeper never served a day, according to testimony.

Operating Open sloop Landis said that he told Middlekauff if it were true that Grossman had been sentenced on the testimony of a liar, as Middlekauff charged, he should publicly demand a pardon.

"But I found out that such was not the case," shouted Landis, pounding the table. "This man was operating a regular saloon and there were six witnesses who saw him selling whiskey."

Paul Howland, counsel for Daugherty, asked Landis if he wanted to leave the impression that he was criticizing the President for granting the pardon to Grossman.

"If you call it criticism," replied Landis, "I guess you'll have to let it stand."

Landis took occasion to say he was not a total abstainer and commented on the popularity of the Volstead act as a conversation topic at dinner parties.

Refuses to Answer "Is liquor served at these dinner parties?" asked Chairman Brookhart.

"Now you are asking me to violate the laws of hospitality," shot back the picturesque judge.

"I think the constitution is higher than the law of hospitality," retorted Brookhart.

"Well, I'm going to Iowa some day and I may take dinner with you, senator," said Landis. "And if you should bring out some of your pre-war Scotch I might take advantage of the provision in the Volstead law that permits a guest to accept hospitality and fall for it."

"It is remarkable how this pre-war stock holds out," he added.

SINCERITY MARKS GRIFFITH FUNERAL

Marked by a simple sincerity which deeply moved those who attended, funeral services were held late yesterday at the Winbiger Mission Funeral home here for Conway Griffith, prominent Western painter, who died Monday night at his studio at Laguna Beach.

The Rev. Abram H. Burkholder, pastor of the Community church of Laguna Beach, touched every heart in an address expressive of the high regard which all held for Mr. Griffith. There were few dry eyes as the speaker told of the painter's simplicity, his kindness and the truthfulness of his friendship.

Mrs. H. M. Sammis, with Miss Ruth Armstrong at the piano, sang with tender feeling "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and "Light After Darkness."

The pallbearers were Charles McCain, Maurice Isch, Joe Jahraus, R. Clarkston Coleman, William Wendt, S. Edward Choate, Frank Cuprien and H. A. Reuter. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

PRICE OF MILK DECREASED 1C ON BOTTLE

Distributors here announced that the price of milk had been reduced 1 cent on the bottle, effective today.

The one cent decline is effective whether the container be of pint or quart capacity.

The lowering cost of the lacteal fluid was said to have been the direct result of influence on the price of hay by the recent rains in the southland.

According to a local distributor, hay prices tumbled as the result of the rains and producers now are able to sell milk at prices that prevailed before the increase was made effective about two months ago.

News Briefs

The foot and mouth quarantine has its humorous as well as its serious side, it was demonstrated at the quarantine station on Los Alamitos boulevard when five county motorcycle officers "jobbed" James Mathews, a new member of the force. The officers hid when Mathews was seen approaching. Deputy Sheriff Frank Stewart stopped the new officer and told him he had to be fumigated. While suffering in the fumigation tent Mathews finally realized he was being initiated as a cop when he heard the five other deputies giving him the "he-ha."

AID SOLICITED AS FUND HERE Dwindles

Citing urgent calls received today from four families for financial assistance, Mrs. G. V. Linsenbard, chairman of the relief committee of the city federation of Parent-Teacher associations, again voiced an appeal for more contributions to the fund being raised through The Register for relief of sufferers from typhoid fever.

One of the calls was from a widowed mother, whose only support has been receiving $15 per week for her work.

Another widowed mother, whose two children have the disease, also has applied for help, Mrs. Linsenbard said.

"This morning we had a call from a family which has been sorely afflicted with fever," she continued. "The father of the home has suffered an accident and is unable to work."

"We cannot let the sick suffer because of lack of funds or other contingencies. We must do something to help those in distress. We must have more money with which to make temporary loans, pay for nurses, to buy food and pay rent. Those we are assisting and those who are making calls for assistance are worthy persons and I hope it will have been said of the residents of Santa Ana that human beings ill here had to endure severe discomforts and neglect because men and women of Santa Ana competent to do so had refused to open their purses and make funds available for relief."

Mrs. Linsenbard said that the balance on hand today approximated $250.

She added that the committee could use a number of quilts if these were made available by donation.

H. S. STUDENTS VIE IN MUSIC CONTESTS

With the very best musical talent sent from all of the high schools in Orange county competing for recognition of the Judges, the Orange county high school music contest was begun at 1:30 p. m. today in the auditorium of the Fullerton high school.

Virtually every high school in the county had entries for all of the numbers on the contest program. A decision is to be awarded the best rendition of a boy's vocal solo, girl's vocal solo, piano solo, boys' glee club selection, girls' glee club selection, orchestra number and band music.

According to the rules of the contest, all entrants will compete on the same selection, not being permitted to choose their own numbers.

The Santa Ana polytechnic high school is being represented as follows:

Robert White, contestant for best rendition of boy's vocal solo; Mollie Mosher, girl's vocal solo; Margaret Carothers, piano solo; entire high school glee club of boys and girls, entire orchestra and band.

The judges will award the decisions late today, it was announced.

ECKLES PUPILS FEATURED BY RADIO KFAW

An excellent program, arranged by Leon Eckles, popular baritone, provided The Register's KFAW radio family with worth-while entertainment last night between 6:30 and 7:30 o'clock.

Eckles introduced two of his advanced pupils, Miss Alice Folsom, contralto, and Miss Kathleen Owens, soprano. Both registered an artistic success in several difficult numbers which were given in praiseworthy style. Miss Folsom's singing of Saint-Saens' "My Heart at Thy Dear Voice" and an Irish folk song by Foote; and Miss Owens' rendition of two numbers from Tennyson's Princess were delightful numbers and a tribute to Eckles as a teacher.

Miss Mabel Krause, pianist, and Samuel Ross Wyvill, reader, added to the success of the program with their numbers. The opening number was given by Eckles who offered two songs in his usual finished style.

The complete KFAW program broadcast last evening was made up of these numbers: Baritone solo, (a) "Sing to Me, Sing" (Hooper); (b) "Tally Ho" (Leon); Miss Kathleen Owens, soprano solo, (a) "My Heart at Thy Voice" from Saint-Saens' opera, "Samson and Delilah"; Miss Alice Folsom, Miss Krause at the piano; soprano solo, (a) "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair" (Haydn); (b) "Believe Me of All Those Endearing Young Charms"; Miss Kathleen Owens, Miss Krause at the piano. Piano solo, "Cracovienne Fantastique" (Paderewski); Miss Mabel Krause, reading, "The Student"; Samuel Ross Wyvill; contralto solo, (a) "I Know a Hill" (Whelpley); (b) "An Irish Folk Song" (Foote); Miss Folsom, Miss Krause at the piano; soprano solo, two numbers from Tennyson's "Princess," (a) "Tears, Idle Tears," (b) "O, Swallow Flying South" (Whelpley); Miss Owens, Miss Krause at the piano; piano solo, "Turkey in the Straw" (Guion); Miss Krause.

GIRL OF TUSTIN HIGH SCHOOL HURT IN CAR

Miss Agnes Cawthon, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cawthon of Tustin, was seriously injured early today when the automobile in which she was riding swerved off the road at the corner of Laguna avenue and Newport road, Tustin, and struck a walnut tree.

Kenneth Cawthon, brother of the girl and who was driving the machine, escaped with minor bruises and cuts. Miss Cawthon was seriously cut about the face, her cheek bone and jaw bone being broken, and she received numerous body cuts and bruises. Both Miss Cawthon and her brother are students at the Tustin high school, Miss Cawthon being a member of the senior class. They were on their way to school after having brought their father to his job in Santa Ana, where he is janitor at The Register building.

Miss Cawthon was rushed to the office of a physician here where ten stitches were taken in the right side of her face. Later Miss Cawthon was transferred to the Santa Ana Valley hospital here for further treatment.

The accident occurred when the machine driven by the Cawthon boy attempted to swerve in front of another machine at the crossing of Newport Road and Laguna avenue. According to witnesses, the machine skidded and struck the tree. The car was completely wrecked.

ACCIDENT VERDICT IN MYSTERY CRASH

Emery Salter's death in an automobile wreck at Anaheim was an accident, a coroner's jury officially decided today, but the cause of the accident could not be determined.

When the Buena Park rancher's car was upset on Lincoln avenue, Anaheim, Wednesday night, the accident was not the result of a collision, witnesses at the inquest disclosed. Just what caused the car to overturn, therefore, remains a mystery, as Salter was alone at the time.

The accident took place as Salter was driving home from Anaheim Wednesday night, his touring car being loaded with sacks of grain. He had just passed a machine parked beside the road when his car seemed to swerve suddenly and turned turtle, witnesses said.

The rancher was crushed under the car and the grain. He suffered a skull fracture and died a few minutes later at an Anaheim hospital.

The inquest was held at 10 a. m. today in the Smith and Tutthill funeral parlors here, Coroner Charles D. Brown presiding over the hearing.

WELL KNOWN SANTA ANA WOMEN ARRESTED

Local Women Arrested Daily by the Interesting Events Portrayed in the Advertising News

SAVING OF MONEY, TIME AND WORK DEMONSTRATED

Santa Ana, May 2.—The city of Santa Ana has become so thoroughly sold on the valuable service rendered by the Advertising News columns of the Santa Ana Register that thousands of women depend upon this medium daily to serve them in many valuable ways. Practically every home is reached through this medium and the resulting economy and efficiency has made this a model city in the science of buying and selling.

Merchants are building large volumes of business because the people buy at home, and the people are being served with better goods at lower prices, and more service is being given, because of the little or no confusion in making purchases.

This admirable situation has been created by the city-wide use and appreciation of advertising news. People of Santa Ana have learned how to save steps, money and time by consulting the Register's advertising news every day. They depend upon it as their buying guide.

Women look to advertising news for information on household needs, and the many other needs for the family of which she buys 90% at least. In fact, it is the women of Santa Ana that have brought about this economic advantage to the city.

The splendid stores of Santa Ana could not exist without this quick means of informing the public about what they have to offer. They talk to the public as they would over their own counters. Their statements are truthful, reliable, informative and concern timely and interesting subjects.

Santa Ana is to be highly congratulated upon the high degree of this modern development. It shows a spirit and progress that will make it one of the leading cities of California, in seaport importance, industrial development, and as a wonderful city in which to live.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE IS DISCOVERED IN DAIRY HERD
OF 248 NEAR LOS ALAMITOS

A herd of 248 fine Jersey and Holstein milk cows, owned by Thompson and Main, Los Alamitos dairymen, was to be shot this afternoon by federal and state officials, following the discovery that eight of the animals were suffering from the foot and mouth disease.

The cows were located on a ranch half-mile east of the Los Alamitos sugar factory and the dread disease crept into the herd despite the most stringent precautions.

Hay, imported from an infected area near Long Beach, probably was the carrier of the disease germ, according to Dr. J. H. Pullin, Santa Ana veterinarian, who is acting in the capacity of deputy county veterinarian.

Discovery that the Los Alamitos herd was infected was made about 3 p. m. yesterday by Roy Swindle, manager of the dairy ranch. Swindle immediately communicated with A. A. Brock, county director of agriculture.

Precautions Taken.
It was asserted here today that the management of the dairy ranch, since the outbreak of the epidemic in Los Angeles county, had denied admission to the ranch to all except employees, and these were required to submit to disinfection whenever they returned from a point outside the confines of the corrals and pasture in which the stock was held. Automobiles were not permitted on the premises, it was said, even employees of the concern leaving their automobiles on the road when driving to the ranch.

It was reported that the owners of the cows, who also own two other herds in the county, recently placed a large insurance on their stock, the premium on which cost approximately $7000.

Milk from the dairy, it was said, has been going to the Gold Medal Creamery, Long Beach, the controlling owners of which are Thompson and Main.

Following discovery of the disease at Los Alamitos, a strong guard was thrown around the premises and other precautions taken to prevent possible spread of the disease to other stock in the neighborhood. A large herd of purebred Holsteins is located near the infected ranch.

San Hay Importation.
Instructions prohibiting the importation of hay or other stock feed on the big Irvine ranch here were issued late yesterday afternoon, according to Dr. Pullin.

Under direction of Brock, Dr. Pullin today went to the O'Neill ranch to supervise the removal of a band of cattle from one pasture to another on the same ranch, and to make critical inspection for signs of the disease. Should the plague develop on this ranch, it was said, extinction would be virtually impossible because deer and other animals roaming the mountains might easily spread the germs.

Pullin stated that a strict prohibition had been made against the shipment of bees into the mountain regions.

The deputy county veterinarian announced that investigation of a suspected case on the Irvine ranch, in a herd in a pasture located in the Santa Ana canyon, had proven the ailing animal afflicted with other than the foot and mouth disease. Determination had not been made as to the character of the ailment, he said.

New Lynwood Outbreaks.
According to announcement from Los Angeles, three new cases of the plague had been found today at Lynwood, in Los Angeles county. The point of the new outbreak there is within three miles of previously infected territory.

San Bernardino mountain resorts were opened today, and free access to the heights was possible, following removal of the quarantine ban imposed by the San Bernardino county board of supervisors.

MEXICANS WILL GIVE PROGRAM
FOR 'MAYO 5'

Abandoning plans for repetition of an extensive fiesta in celebration of the anniversary of the independence of Mexico, the Mexican population of Santa Ana today was looking forward to the program to be given tomorrow evening at the Frances E. Willard Junior high school in commemoration of the anniversary. The program will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

The anniversary occurs on Monday, May 5, and in the language of natives is "Cinco De Mayo."

The program is under the direction of the Americanization department of the city schools. The activities include a reception and exhibition of school work and Mexican art at the school, opening at 3 p. m. Many beautiful articles have been collected, including Mexican drawn-work pieces valued at $75 to $100; woven blankets, serapes, robes and wax figures, all evidencing fine detail work by the artists. Some drawn work will be offered for sale.

Francisca Espania, who has become famous throughout Southern California for his exquisite work in wax figures, and who made the altar pieces for the rebuilt church of the Capistrano Mission, will have on display several pieces of his handwork. Tamales, Mexican dulces and ice cream will be on sale from 5:30 to 8 p. m.

Features of the program in the evening will include brief talks by J. Laguna and S. Ayala on the meaning of "Cinco de Mayo;" demonstration of teaching English in first class, by Miss Kathleen Carroll; vocal selections by Manuela Budrow, accompanied by Miss Mabel Woodworth; a talk by Miss Ethel Richardson, state superintendent of immigrant education, and a solo dance by Miss Geraldine Rodriguez.

Others who will participate in the program are A. Ramos, Jesus Garcia, C. Aguilera, Alice and Helen Tylan, Logan school children (May pole dance), Artesia school children (singing), J. Garcia and group of Spanish dancers, E. Echiverria, J. Henshaw, D. Arenos, P. Rodriguez, Miss Ruth Frothingham.

A wonderful lunch, home-cooked and reasonably priced, Fuller's, 410 N. Main.

Betrothals Weddings Receptions

Dinner and Program Offer An Evening Of Harmony

With harmony the foundation upon which the First Methodist church choir is built, it was to be expected that a social gathering of the organization would be a pleasant one, and such expectations were fully realized last night at St. Ann's Inn where over half a hundred choir members and a few friends were dinner guests of the music committee of the church.

Guests were greeted in the lobby of the Inn by the Rev. Will A. Betts and Mrs. Betts, together with those members of the music committee present, Mrs. J. G. Robertson, chairman, Miss Ethel Coffman, secretary, W. D. Baker and W. J. Saunby. The remaining two members of the committee, Mrs. S. M. Davis and F. P. Jayne, were unable to be present.

In the dining room, the rose motif prevailed, guests finding their places by means of dainty rose cards. Exquisite Cecil Brunner buds with their own greenery trailed the entire length of the tables, arranged in hollow square formation, while at intervals were ornamental baskets filled with sprays of the same dainty bloom.

Dinner was served in five courses after which Dr. Betts as master of ceremonies, in his own masterly manner assured the young people of the place they held in the affections of himself and of the congregation and then introduced the various talented folk who gave the program.

Miss Ruth Oakes was the first and delighted with her harp numbers, "Valse Albanais" and "Springtime." She was followed by Hulda Dietz, who as leader and director of the big chorus choir, was honor guest and who sang in her own charming way, "Trees" (Joyce Kilmer) by Rasbach, "The Crystal Gazer" by Cramer and as a final number, Carrie Jacobs Bond's "I Love You Truly." Mrs. W. B. Snow was at the piano for Mrs. Dietz's numbers.

Wee Nina June Robertson was quite the star of the evening as, to the soft piano accompaniment of Miss Holly Lash, she rocked her dolly to sleep to a pretty lullaby, named by her own small self, "Bye-Love." A clever little motion song describing the gobbling turkey and the wabbling duck was Nina June's encore number.

Miss Lash then presented the courtship scene from Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" giving it in her characteristically delightful way and offering a direct contrast in them in the bit of Italian dialect which she gave as an encore. This was "T. A. Daley's" "Dees Americano Boy."

With Miss Thurva Van Nest at the piano, James H. Hughes gave two very pleasing songs, "Morning" by Oley Speaks and a gay little bit of philosophy regarding the state of being a fish, after which Miss Oakes gave the concluding numbers of the program, two of her beautiful harp selections, "Modern Dance" by Rogers and "En Reve" by Verdale.

In voicing his "good-night," Dr. Betts expressed the feelings of the entire group when he told of the enjoyment the program gave, and the music committee was assured of the appreciation of each member of the choir for an unforgettable evening.

Those present included the Rev. and Mrs. Will A. Betts, Mrs. Anna Robinson, Mrs. F. P. Jayne, Mrs. J. G. Robertson, Nina June Robertson, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, Ethel Coffman, Holly Lash, Lorene Croddy, Lillian Burden, Cleo Bowers, Teresa Bement, Dorothy Bement, W. D. Baker, David Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Osmar Dietz, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Willis, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Zaiser, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Snow, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Saunby, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Saunby, Elizabeth Skiles, Eva Adams, Lydia Fisher, Jean Ramsey, Ruth Angel, James Hughes, Ruth Goodwin, May Adams, Eva Ramsey, Mary Coffman, Lillian Fitz, Mrs. Frances Weinick, May Beamer, Venna Goodwin, Gladys Finuf, Frances Van Nest, Bernice Finuf, Thurva Van Nest, Horace Fraser, Elinor Hughes, Vivian Smith, Hazel Smith, Ruth Oakes, Dorothy Cartwright, Doris Myers, Huestis Snow, Earl Rodake, Edward Burns, Celestine White, Florence Hulsick.

Attendance need not depend upon P. T. A. membership as everyone interested will be extended a cordial welcome and given an opportunity to examine the posters. As co-hostesses with Mrs. Snow will be Mrs. Edgar W. McGaffey, poster chairman of the fourth district and Mrs. Archie Donaghey, poster chairman of the city federation.

Dozens of posters will be passed upon and the best will be selected to display at the state convention to be held in Pasadena in May. All submitted work will be displayed at the tea for which the hours named were 2 to 5 p. m.

News Notes of Interest To Women

May Day Affair Held At St. Ann's For Local Lionesses

There seems little likelihood that wives of Santa Ana Lions will care to follow a life of crime following the discouragement received yesterday at St. Ann's Inn when Nick Harris of the famous Los Angeles detective agency, pointed out the inadvisability of such a choice of professions in his lecture, "Why Crime Does Not Pay," presented at the May day meeting of the Lionesses with their wives as honor guests.

It was an unusually interesting meeting and scores of Lionesses were highly appreciative of the opportunity to hear so thrilling a talk and also to enjoy the lively quips and jokes which are an un-failing accompaniment to a Lion luncheon.

One of the pleasantest events of the affair was the wholehearted greeting extended Lion Edward Hummel upon his first appearance after a lengthy and serious illness. Other matters taken up included the plan for interchange of calls between members whereby a better social spirit might be attained. Membership will be divided into equal halves and each individual of these halves, with Lions help, will make a social call upon the family of each of the opposing side. C. S. Crookshank presented the plan which will carry a system of merits, and it was proposed that he and Harry J. Hanson captain the opposing teams.

Lions night at the new Y. M. C. A. building will be observed next Monday night according to the friendly announcement of James McDill who stated that an hour of gymnasium work beginning at 8 o'clock would be followed by a swim in the pool.

H. B. Van Dine, president, then turned the meeting over to S. B. Kaufman, program chairman who introduced Elmer Barr of the Orange den as soloist. Mr. Barr, a prime favorite with Lions generally, sang two topical songs, "When Grandma Was a Girl" and an amusing Italian number, responding with a third as an encore number.

With the first sentence, Nick Harris, speaker of the occasion, won his audience, his rapier-like wit and quick, staccato sentences keeping the audience in a ripple of mirth. Even in the more serious phases of his talk, he astonished with a flashing simile or a quaint and unexpected angle to his theme.

In illustrating his declaration that a life of crime never succeeds, Harris described the cycle of events through which was apprehended Charles Chandelae, an arch-criminal whose plan to rob a Hollywood fire-proof storage room of a fortune in furs, was circumvented by his (Harris's) efforts. The actual trunk used by the criminal was shown and remarkable snapshot photographs taken on the scene.

The fact that five years of working on the scheme and a fourteen years imprisonment were the rewards for one man's venture into crime while his school-boy accomplice died of a broken blood-vessel in the brain from worry over complicity in the affair, pointed sufficiently moral, according to the speaker who later in the afternoon repeated his talk before the young people of the high school.

Interested Lions and their guests crowded around Mr. Harris at the close of the talk, to examine the pictures and his recently published book of true detective stories. It was remarked that each woman guest carried an attractive French bouquet of spring flowers, the dainty luncheon favors selected by the hosts and distributed by Lions Joe Parsons and Mark Lacy.

Dinner Plans Related For Opening Affair At Ebbl Club

What is the cryptic saying of the East Indians? "I told my heart's secret to my friend. He had a friend." Well, that is the principle upon which Ebbl women are extending dinner invitations to their friends, trusting that they will go on—and on and on—until on the evening of Thursday, May 22, such assemblage of friends as has seldom been seen in the city, will gather at the new Ebbl clubhouse to enjoy the initial social function there to be staged, an elaborate course dinner which will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

Some confusion is said to exist in the minds of the townspeople regarding attendance at the dinner, thinking it was to be limited to men, others thinking it was for Ebbl members and their husbands only. Both are wrong, for the dinner will be open to everyone interested and it is anticipated that scores of men and women who have a warm feeling for the society, will be present and evidence that friendship by arranging little dinner groups, adding to the social gaiety of the affair and also adding to the society's exchequer by the incidental cover charges of five dollars per guest.

Already reservations are being made for the function while it is yet three weeks away, so it is to be feared that the dilatory may find their last minute applications refused through the fact of there being no more accommodations. It is hoped to be able to serve 400 diners and the affair is presaged as quite the most brilliant of the spring season, and a fitting ceremonial with which to open the new club home.

Birthday Surprise For Costa Mesa

A birthday surprise was given Mrs. Everett Buck Monday evening, April 28, at her home at Costa Mesa, by a number of relatives and friends. The evening was spent in a social time and playing games. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Buck received quite a number of useful gifts.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Dell, Mr. and Mrs. Cade Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hubert, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Buck, Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bullock, Mr. and Mrs. Ben O. Dye, Mrs. Roy Griffith, Mrs. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Buck, the Misses Nita Mae Buck, Faye Griffith, Loleta Bullock, Margie Lee Buck, Messrs. ## Card Club Meets For Merry Evening

Owing to the quarantine which residents on the Irvine ranch have been asked to observe, Mrs. H. W. Witman will entertain the Tustin Literature section of Ebbl at the home of Miss Minnie Childs, Main street Tustin, Tuesday, May 6 at 2:30 p. m.

Bridge was foregone in favor of five hundred at a friendly little May party with which Miss Rosina Sterr entertained last night at her East Fifth street home. Guests were members of an informal club which meets every fortnight.

Absence of two of the members last night was regretted as was the recent departure of another member, Miss Prudence Macomber who left to spend the summer in Nebraska, her former home. Just prior to Miss Macomber's departure she was honored guest at a pretty little affair at the home of another member, Miss Helen Cramer of Orange. At that time the honoree was presented with a handsome leather writing case by the assembled girls.

Last night Miss Sterr, assisted by Miss Betty Newlands, arranged the card tables with vividly colored luncheon cloths, and served a delicious little supper of marguerites, hot chocolate, ice cream with crushed strawberries and cake. Club members include the Misses Macomber whose absence is just for the summer, Rosina Sterr, Betty Newlands, Kathleen Owens, Nancy Wilde, Marie Hamill, Helen Cramer, Margaret King and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott.

Barn Dance and Party Is Well Attended

Nearly two hundred merry-makers motored to the pleasant ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Borchard at Fairview last night, to enjoy the barn dance, card party and wicker roast which offered such varied entertainment.

'Twas an ideal night for the affair and while forty guests enjoyed cards, the majority preferred the dancing either on the lawn or in the great barn. The Fraternal Brotherhood orchestra offered excellent music. Roses were everywhere and the house where card tables were arranged, was adorned with great bowls of the fragrant bloom.

Mrs. Borchard, Mrs. Irish, Mrs. David Wolford and Mrs. J. Columini were hostesses and the affair was sponsored by St. Ann's parish. In the card contest, prizes were awarded Mrs. Trueblood, Mrs. Burns, J. Haupt and W. M. Robbins.

Parent-Teachers

Roosevelt Parent-Teacher association will meet in the school kindergarten room, Tuesday afternoon, May 6 at 3 o'clock.

Bridge Club Members Are Entertained In Baumgartner Home

An event of recent date which yielded much enjoyment was the meeting of an informal bridge club with Mrs. John P. Baumgartner at her North Main street home, with all members present but two.

Four tables were employed and a lively afternoon followed with members endeavoring to increase scores which will be totaled at the end of the year, the losing group of eight then to entertain the winners.

Quantities of beautiful roses with columbine and other spring blossoms added to the attractiveness of the home and bowls of roses were used to adorn the tables arranged for luncheon which the guests enjoyed ere the afternoon's playing began.

Mrs. Edward M. Nealley and Mrs. G. B. Lamme were the absent members of the club, their places being filled by Mrs. Samuel M. Davis and Mrs. H. T. Duckett.

Members present included the hostess, Mrs. Baumgartner, Mrs. Angus J. Crookshank, Mrs. Clarence Crookshank, Mrs. A. M. Gardner, Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Mrs. E. E. Keech, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, Mrs. W. E. Otis, Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. C. A. Vance, Mrs. Wyckoff Hoxie, Mrs. J. E. Liebig, Mrs. Terry Stephenson and Mrs. Roy Hall.

Mrs. Terry Stephenson will be the next hostess to entertain.

May Baskets Galore Distinguish Party For Bride-elect

Charming in all its appointments was the May party given for Miss Edna Carol Stout, a June bride-to-be, by Mrs. Blanche B. Hansen and Mrs. John Knox at the pretty home of the former, 719 South Birch street.

The affair was a luncheon and gift shower and as the guests sought their places at an attractive table, they found rainbow tinted May baskets and artistic corsage bouquets as favors. The dainty sweetheart roses and orange blossoms of the bouquets were quite appropriate to the occasion and highly suggestive of the June wedding of Miss Stout and Milton Emigh of San Francisco.

As the luncheon hour drew to a close, a huge May basket filled with gifts both dainty and practical, was presented to the honoree. The afternoon was devoted to bridge at which Mrs. Lillian Stout and Mrs. Ralph McCune scored and were duly honored.

Those gathered for the happy occasion included Mrs. Lillian Stout, Pasadena; Mrs. H. H. Harrington, Riverside; Mrs. W. H. Hendrix, Calgary, Can.; Mrs. Belle Smith, Long Beach; Mrs. Pearl Anderson, Hermosa Beach; Mrs. Don Diggins, Hollywood; Mrs. Philip Knox, Garden Grove; Mrs. Melvin Salverson, Anaheim; Mrs. R. S. Briggs, Mrs. Minnie Briggs, Mrs. Charles D. Benight, Mrs. Ralph McCune, the honoree, Miss Edna Carol Stout and the entertaining hostesses, Mrs. Knox and Mrs. Harrison.

Gold Room Is Scene Of Pretty Wedding Held Last Night

With its vividly tinted walls and appointments effectively garlanded with roses, the gold room at Ketter's last night was the setting for an unusually pretty wedding when two young people from Los Angeles took their vows before the Rev. Otto S. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city.

Miss Celia Reiner and Fenton A. George were the happy pair and with them were a few friends and close relatives to witness the ceremony at 9 o'clock and enjoy the dancing and other pleasant features of the reception which followed.

Miss Reiner, gowned in jonquil crepe de chine, was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy George and Miss Isabel Leathley, whose frocks, also of crepe de chine were in springtime colors, canary and Alice blue. Mr. George was attended by Jay W. Wheeler as best man while George Wheeler completed the wedding group.

The bride carried a beautiful cluster of roses while each maid carried Cecil Brunner buds, in harmony with the outstanding flower of the decorations. Music accompanied the serving of the elaborate wedding supper following which the newly-wedded pair led in the dancing which completed a happy evening.

Called to Santa Ana for the event were W. H. Reiner, father of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. George, parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wheeler, grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gee F. Wheeler, Miss Vera Edwards, Harold Pickering and the members of the formal wedding group, Miss Reiner, the bride, Mr. Fenton, the groom, Miss Dorothy George, Miss Isabel Leathley, Jay W. Wheeler and George Wheeler.

Household Economics

Ebbl's fifth Household Economics section will be entertained by Mrs. Cood Adams at her Tustin home, Tuesday, May 13 on the usual meeting date of the section, rather than on this coming Tuesday as was at first planned.

As co-hostesses with Mrs. Adams will be Mrs. Hugh Plumb and Mrs. Otto R. Haan.

MOTHER'S DAY—Sunday, May 11

Liquor Case Man Pays $300 Fine

Ermino Guerrero was at liberty today following his trial on a liquor charge in Justice J. B. Cox's court, having satisfied the state by payment of a $300 fine.

Guerrero was found guilty late yesterday at his trial, where he was defended by Attorney Albert Trujillo. Deputy District Attorney Kenneth H. Burns conducted the prosecution.

FULLERTON TO CONNECT WITH SEWER LINE

The city of Fullerton will connect its sewer system with the joint outfall project sometime today, according to W. C. Record, Fullerton city manager and engineer.

"This connection," Record said, "is being made after several last minute delays caused by rains in March and April."

Record explained that before the rains began the city system was almost ready for connection with the joint outfall project. There remained but 300 feet of pipe to be laid and the backfilling of the ditches before the "cutover."

HYSTERIA OVER PLAGUE HELD UNFOUNDED

That other western states are making much of overdramatic reports on the status of the hoof and mouth disease in this state was asserted by Harry W. Lewis, president of the California Walnut Growers' association, who addressed the board of directors of the Orange county farm bureau yesterday. Lewis was appointed by Governor Richardson to confer with executives of other states in regard to the lifting of embargoes on California products in other western states.

"This hysteria is very unreasonable," Lewis declared. "False reports have been printed and circulated throughout these states and have caused the public to distrust the purity of any product from California."

"There is the case of a doctor who printed circulars saying that hoof and mouth disease was a human disease and that it might be acquired by the consumption of products from California."

"This statement, of course, was without foundation but it has hurt the entire state of California."

Lewis stated that he had succeeded in getting delegates from other states to visit California and learn the real status of the disease and the precautions and preventive measures that are being taken. He said he believed that such a visitation from other states would reveal the falsity of reports and result in a general lifting of embargoes that have been made on California products.

The farm bureau directors passed a resolution commending the horticultural commissioners for their work in the hoof and mouth disease quarantine and voted that farm center meetings be continued throughout the summer months. Formerly, the farm centers did not meet during the months of July and August.

A resolution was passed commending the Standard Oil company for the removal of its advertising signs from public highways.

The motion picture, "It Shall Not Pass," was shown during the early part of the afternoon session. The film shows the hoof and mouth disease, methods of control, and fumigation and quarantine methods.

A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the farm bureau, in behalf of the directors, presented J. A. Smiley, president, with a gold farm bureau emblem.

BERLIN CLAIMS VICTORY IN DYE FIGHT

BERLIN, May 2. — German economic experts claim that America's infant dye industry is not greatly troubling the German dye producers. On the other hand, American producers of pharmaceutical goods are making inroads on the German production and competing with the German products on the world market.

There appears to be real anxiety in the one-strong fortress of the German chemical barons.

Light is thrown on the dye chemical situation by the trade review of the S. P. D. agency which writes:

"America made great efforts during and after the war to make itself independent of the German dye import upon which it almost completely relied in 1914."

Big investment

"A good view of the extent of these efforts, partially undertaken under protection of the American government, is furnished by the fact that from the beginning of the war until the end of 1923 not less than one and a half million dollars was invested in the American dye-stuff industry."

"The statistics for the year 1923 should not be underestimated, even though they are not in proportion to the amounts expended."

"The American dye-stuff industry was able to increase the production of dye-stuffs and to put new lines on the market; but in general the industry was not in a position to replace the German coal tar dyes, especially the special brands of the German factories. Leadership in this line is still held by the German dye industry, despite all the blows it received as a result of the war, the Versailles treaty and the consequences of the Ruhr occupation. This is proven by the fact that similar American articles could scarcely compete with the German products on the American market."

Buy German Goods

"The American production in 1923 went exclusively into the export trade and was disposed of on the world market, while American consumers preferred German goods. This explains the increase of the German dye import in America, which was estimated by the American Chemical society as 50 per cent higher than in 1922. Consequently one can conclude that the German dye industry has maintained in general its original market in America. The figures would have been greater if the Ruhr battle had not lamed the dye export of the German factories."

"In comparison to dye-stuffs, German pharmaceutical preparations came off worse. This can be ascribed to the fact that the American production made recognized advances, although even today it cannot compete with German medicaments. However, the American producers succeeded in increasing the export of pharmaceutical articles one fifth above the 1922 export, and doubled the export figure for 1913."

MANY INDICATE ATTENDANCE AT Y TALK

Reservations were being received today at the Y. M. C. A. here for the dinner to be given Monday night in honor of G. S. Phelps, national secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Japan.

The dinner, which will begin at 6:30 o'clock, will be held in the Y. M. C. A. dining room. It is open to both men and women. Reservations should be telephoned to the Y. M. C. A. office.

"Phelps is one of the leaders in Y. M. C. A. work sent by the American associations to the Far East," R. C. Smedley, executive secretary, explained. "He has distinguished himself by his good work in Japan, China and Siberia, and he is the possessor of an honor decoration given him by the Czechoslovakian republic in recognition of his service during the war."

"Being in close touch with diplomatic circles in Japan, China and Korea, Phelps is in a position to speak with authority on many details of American relationships in the East. His visit to Santa Ana has no political significance whatever. He is coming to bring a report on the work of the Y. M. C. A. in its foreign enterprises, and his address will deal with the problems of Christian work for the young men of the lands in which he has worked."

"A report from Pasadena, where Phelps spoke a few days ago, states that he was one of the most interesting speakers on Oriental matters that has been heard there. His address in Santa Ana will undoubtedly be full of instruction and entertainment."

INFORMAL Y PROGRAM SET FOR TOMORROW

The Y. M. C. A. invites visitors for an informal program tomorrow evening. It was announced at the association today, when it was added that men and women will be welcome in the lobby and gymnasium from about 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

There will be music in the lobby, and the exhibition which has been placed by the West Coast Artists' association will be a central feature.

Some exciting games are promised for the gymnasium. It is the intention to stage a basketball game between two picked teams, and a game of indoor baseball between two teams of the industrial league.

Men may inspect the swimming pool.

The music for the evening will be furnished by the orchestra of the Frances Willard junior high school. Harry Garstang will be in charge of the orchestra, in the absence of Miss Violet, its director.

DANCING!

Saturday, Sunday and Wednesday nights, over bath house, Newport Beach. Starts 8:30. Dysart orchestra. What you say? Let's go!

Manchester Duke Is $31,390 Loser

NEW YORK, May 2.—The Duke of Manchester, who married Miss Helena Zimmerman, daughter of Eugene Zimmerman, Cincinnati capitalist and millionaire, is in trouble again.

At the direction of Supreme Court Justice Davis, summary judgment for $31,390 on a series of promissory notes he made to Archibald S. White, banker and broker of New York and Cincinnati, in 1914 was entered against the Duke in the County Clerk's office.

The duke, who has tried many different ways to make money in the past few years, pleaded as a defense that the notes were evidences of money advanced to him by Mr. White for stock in the International Educational League corporation. In addition he pleaded the statute of limitations.

Mr. White, in an affidavit, denied that, however, that he was ever interested in the Educational League.

MANAGER QUILTS AT INN AFTER 18 MONTHS

With an attractive offer as manager of a big hotel at Colorado Springs, Colo., presented to him, G. A. Schweiger today had resigned as manager of St. Ann's Inn here and was preparing to relinquish tomorrow the management to N. W. Gray, who has had a wide experience in hotel management in Southern and Northern California.

Schweiger announced that he is expecting to depart by automobile for Colorado Springs in the next few days. He will take his family with him.

"The directors of St. Ann's Inn have the highest regard for Mr. Schweiger and are deeply appreciative of what he has done to bring the hostelry to the front in the eighteen months he has had control of the institution," said R. L. Bisby, secretary of the board of directors of St. Ann's. "His resignation, accepted only after long consideration, and finally at the insistent request of Schweiger. Schweiger's personality, his congeniality and his executive ability have been factors in making the enterprise the success it has been since he took over the management."

Gray has been identified with the management of the Alexander Young, Stewart and Jefferson in San Francisco; the White Cotton, formerly the Shattuck, in Berkeley, and the Casa Blanca at Ontario.

He was with Milo Potter for eleven years, he being identified with the Potter at Santa Barbara and the Van Nuys in Los Angeles.

Gray stated that there would be no change in the personnel of the hotel staff.

"It is with some little regret that I am leaving Santa Ana," said Schweiger, "but the opportunity I have at Colorado Springs offers the chance for broadening my experience in hotel management. It is my desire to get the broadest experience possible in the management of hotels and this is the factor impelling me to the change."

"My connection with the hotel here has been pleasing and satisfactory to me in every way. I trust my successor will be accorded the same courteous treatment given me."

Father Takes Boy Fugitive to Jail

ST. LOUIS, May 2.—The first intimation Sheriff Willman's office had of a jail break of the part of two inmates of the juvenile division of the Clayton jail occurred when the father of Elmer Amas, 14, of Kinloch Park, returned him to the sheriff.

An investigation revealed that with Daniel Nagel, 14, also of Kinloch Park, Amas had loosened a bar on the window with a jail-made monkey wrench and had squeezed through an aperture about 7 by 11 inches. The size of the opening was the only thing that prevented the escape of the only other prisoner.

Thieves Cut Cards To Rob Same Home

BERKELEY, May 2.—The burglars met by chance by a house each desired to rob and decided by chance who would do the job. Chance led one to $500 loot and the other to jail. At least that's the story told Berkeley police by Harry Martin, who says he was the unlucky one.

The two, Martin said, cut a deck of cards. Martin drew a three of clubs. The other got a nine of hearts. Martin said he left at once. The other stayed and took what he wanted. Martin was arrested for the crime. The other was not. Police were doubtful of the story but found the house actually had been broken into in two places as Martin had said.

Fall Down Steps Is Fatal to Boy

WASHINGTON, May 2.—A fall down a flight of steps proved fatal for Wilton Washington, 8, Fifth and Cloud streets northwest. His neck was broken.

The boy was descending the steps of his home when he stumbled, diving headlong down the stairs. James Washington, his father, who was in the yard in the rear of the house, heard his child's screams and ran for aid. When the physician arrived the boy was dead.

SCIENTISTS TO COMMUNICATE WITH MARS

CARMEL, N. Y., May 2.—English scientists are preparing to make another attempt to communicate with Mars in August when the planet will be nearer the earth than in 15 years. A series of light flashes from the summit of Jungfrau, in the Alps, is the method to be used.

A gigantic electro-heliographing apparatus is already being installed, which will concentrate the rays from the dazzling snow-fields and hurl them in a super-searching beam millions of miles through interstellar space.

This stupendous scheme is the same idea as the headlight of a motor car. This consists of a glass lens concentrating the beams, an electric bulb and a concave mirror to serve as a reflector.

The idea of light communication with Mars has often been suggested. It was considered possible to get the necessary amount of light and to concentrate it, but the problem has always been how to make a gigantic mirror, miles square, sufficiently powerful to reflect the rays millions of miles through the air.

Vast Mirror
On the Jungfrau the question is solved. A neighboring mountain presents an enormous concave slope of shining snow. Innumerable great calcium flares will take the place of the electric bulb in the motor headlight, and a huge double lens capable of being pointed like a cannon will be set on the topmost peak to throw the rays against the snow reflector, and so up through space to Mars. Ten thousand giant calcium flares and a reflector more than three miles in diameter will develop a light roughly estimated at 2,000,000 candle-power!

It is with this light that science hopes to traverse the 35,000,000 miles that will separate us from Mars in August next. Will the Martians (assuming intelligent life exists on that planet) receive and understand our signals? Then will they flash us back a reply?

Will Mars Answer?
This is the system that will probably be used from the Alps. Two light flashes a few seconds apart, then another two; then, after a pause four flashes. If there are Martians to catch the signal, they will realize that reason is behind them. Perhaps they will answer in the same way. If their answer is sent back immediately the whole thing would take less than seven minutes, for light travels 186,000 miles per second.

No less important than the sending of the message is the catching of a possible reply.

The 35,000,000 miles of actual distance to Mars will be reduced to about 50,000 miles of visual distance by the high-powered telescopes through which scientists will be watching. Camille Flammarion, the great French astronomer, will be stationed in the bottom of a mine shaft in Chile, South America. The telescope through which he will scan the heavens will utilize one of the mine tunnels for a tube.

STREAM ROADS ELECTRIFIED IN EUROPE

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., May 2.—A review of progress made in electrification of steam railroads in 1923, as compiled here, shows that the more important developments in this direction have been in foreign countries. This was also the case in 1922.

Among the improvements in foreign countries now contemplated or already completed were listed the following:

"In Brazil, new apparatus being built in America will make possible the extension of present lines about 35 miles. Electric locomotives will take over switching work now done by steam locomotives on the Paulista railway.

"In Spain, two substations to supply electric current have been shipped from America for service on the Spanish northern railway.

"Ten locomotives for the Mexican railway have been completed, together with substation equipment, and are ready for shipment.

"Shipments have been made to Java, where electrification has begun on lines about the city of Batavia.

"Further developments have been reported on the Paris-Orleans railway in France."

THUG FELLED WITH 2 BY 4 BY YOUTHS

BELOIT, Wis., May 2.—Two negro bandits made the mistake of holding up David Wilson of Blue Island, Ill., in front of his fraternity house and trying to make away with his wealth, amounting to 27 cents. The robbers had barely covered two blocks when they were overtaken by a posse of pajama-clad Beloit college students who had come to the rescue of their companion.

Facing the fire of a 32-caliber revolver held by one of the students, three of the students advanced, and while Carl Beerwald of Milwaukee argued with him, Robert Irvine of New York attacked him from the rear, and Teddy Schroth came in on the flank and downed him with a well aimed blow on the head with a two-by-four. After recovering the 27 cents from him, the bad man was turned over to the police. The other bandit escaped, but was taken into custody the following day.

OREGON TROOPS TO VISIT CALIFORNIA

SALEM, Oregon, May 2.—Twenty-five hundred of Oregon's national guardsmen will spend two weeks in intensive field training in California this summer, according to orders issued by Adjutant General White.

The guardsmen will leave for their camps early in June. All of Oregon's heavy artillery will occupy the defense at San Francisco harbor, taking station at Fort Barry on June 14 to 28. Batteries from Ashland, Marshfield, Albany, Newport and Toledo will be stationed there.

Infantry troops of the state and the engineering and field hospital units are ordered to Del Monte, Monterey, Calif., from June 10 to 24. These troops are attached to Portland, Hood River, La Grande, Baker, St. Helens, Woodburn, McMinnville, Gresham, Dallas, Corvallis, Silverton, Salem, Cottage Grove, Eugene, Lebanon, Roseburg and Medford.

Battery A, 148th field artillery, Portland, probably will be sent to Camp Lewis, Wash., for its training.

DENIES DEER DEATH RESULT OF PLAGUE

ONTARIO, May 2.—Wild rumors current here that deer were dropping dead with the foot and mouth plague in the mountains to the north following the finding of a dead doe near the Camp Baldy road in San Antonio canyon were denied by Dr. C. W. Julian, veterinarian following an investigation of the report. The veterinarian's inquiry resulted in the discovery that the deer had been injured by being struck by a motor car and had died a short distance from the road.

Rumors that the plague was attacking the deer created a wave of pessimism here and the possibility of closing the entire range to hunters and fishermen were discussed.

Dr. Julian at once got in touch with Forest Ranger Arthur Shay, who had already investigated the death of the deer, and who informed him that an examination of the animal having been struck by a downcoming motor car.

On his trip to the canyon today Dr. Julian saw many live deer, but no sign of the dreaded disease, and workmen employed on the canyon roads told the veterinarian that they had seen no sick deer.

Giant Planes to Cross Ocean in 12 Hours, Report

LONDON, May 2.—London to New York in 12 hours!

This is the promise with powerful new engines which have been constructed for the British air ministry, developing 650 horsepower and 1200 horsepower, and which are to be tested shortly.

A series of these engines is under construction and some have already passed the bench tests of the British air ministry. There is also one engine of 1600 horsepower, details of which are being closely guarded.

These giant engines will give dropping dead with the foot and bombing aeroplanes and passenger carriers an enormous range, in addition to bringing the week-end visit between Britishers and Americans a step nearer.

Invents Devise To Cheat Locks

PARIS, May 2.—Burglary is made easy, in the opinion of the police, by a scientifically constructed appliance for measuring locks so that false keys can be made, which has been discovered by chance as the result of a rapid flight of a surprised thief. Placed over a lock, with a lever penetrating the keyhole, the appliance registered on the sliding scale the position and size of every one of the wards which it would be necessary to cut on a blank key to enable it to open the lock.

The police say the instrument heats secret locks.

300 TOLD FACTS

Meeting Held In Riverside County Town Enthusiastic For Project

Construction by Orange county of its portion of the proposed road from Elsinore to San Juan Capistrano is not a possibility of the immediate future, it became known here today, following declarations by T. B. Talbert, chairman of the Orange county board of supervisors, at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at Elsinore last night, that the county's finances and conditions generally did not warrant a promise of immediate action in the road building program.

Reiterating former statements that it was the policy of the present members of the county governing body to "pay as we go," Talbert pointed to the fact that the county is spending approximately $18,000 a month for enforcement of quarantine regulations, is spending between $300,000 and $400,000 annually in the building and rebuilding of roads and is now engaged in extensive construction work in the development of more public buildings on the court house square.

Paid With Direct Tax

"We are making all of these improvements by direct tax and not under bond issues," said the chairman. "We are not voting bonds and do not intend to vote such obligations except on projects of the utmost importance and we probably will float an issue soon for further improvement of Orange county harbor."

Called as the first speaker in the discussion of the project, Talbert did not in any way dampen the spirits of the large group of Riverside county men and women present at a meeting that was declared to have been the largest of its kind ever held in the Elsinore district. More than 300 persons gathered at the tables and enjoyed a sumptuous turkey dinner in

ANYTHING INDUCING THOUGHT OF BEAUTY IS WORTHWHILE,
MOOSE CONTEST MAN SAYS

"It would be interesting to know exactly how much the numerous beauty contests held in this country influence our lives for the better," Frank M. Brown, in charge of the beauty and popularity contest of Santa Ana lodge No. 1025, Loyal Order of Moose, declared here today, as he announced the entry of Miss Ada Tulene, as one who will strive for the prize of a trip to New York in July.

"Beauty contests are a development of comparatively recent years in this country. Such an affair as that held annually in Atlantic City, in which the most beautiful girl in America is chosen from among scores of hand-picked entrants from over all the country, creates an enormous amount of interest everywhere.

"The publication of pictures of the fair contestants and the printing of thousands of stories in the press of the country regarding such contests is certain, I believe, to exert a refining influence. Certainly the contemplation of beauty can have no other but a beneficial effect. Anything which induces people to think of beauty is more than worthwhile."

"Beauty was almost a religion with the ancient Greeks—and it cannot be denied that here was a people which reached astounding heights in both mental and physical culture."

Miss Tulene stated that this is the first contest she ever entered and that the trip to the east looked good to her.

Trip Is Alluring

"Mr. Brown's description of the trip is very alluring," Miss Tulene declared, "and I am certainly anxious to win the trip. I think it would be a treat for any girl suddenly to be featured in a motion

MAKER IS DUE
HERE SOON

Glenn Martin, Santa Ana's famous manufacturer of airplanes, is expected here in a few days for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. Martin, 810 Minter street, it was learned today.

Martin, who is president of the Glenn L. Martin company, airplane manufacturing company at Cleveland, left the latter city last Saturday en route to Santa Ana. He expected to stop off at a number of points en route, and the date of his arrival here is uncertain. Martin, it is understood, expects to be successful in securing contracts for building of mail planes for use of the post office department, and it was said his trip west was for the purpose of making investigations pertaining to the building program.

TWO CITIES TO TURN OFFICES TO YOUTHS

City officials in two Orange county cities today were preparing to relinquish their duties tomorrow morning to the "men of tomorrow."

In observance of "Boys' Week," Fullerton and Orange officers will step out of the municipal picture tomorrow to see their places taken by young men selected this week by their classmates for the respective positions.

According to reports from both Fullerton and Orange, many unexpected things for the benefit of the respective cities are expected to result from the short administration of the youths.

In Fullerton the grammar school ticket won by a landslide over that supported by the high school boys, results showed.

The boys elected to hold office in Fullerton tomorrow include: Trustees, Robert Finch, Irwin Chapman, Charles Thompson, Ned Fahn and William Davis; chief of police, Dean Burney; city engineer, Evan Lewis; fire chief, Neil Clark; city clerk, Raymond Clever; city treasurer, Tenbrock Williamson; health officer, Frederick Reese.

After an excited campaign of electioneering, the students of the Orange union high school elected William Garrison as city clerk and Elmer Nichols, treasurer.

The five trustees are Lloyd McClure, Clyde Bennett, John Meyer, Dick Spencer and Lester Peck.

The really serious part of this work is to show the boys how city government is carried on. These boys will make much better citizens, as a result of the experience they will receive tomorrow it is said.

A meeting of the new trustees and the appointive offices will be arranged. There is a keen competition among the boys for these appointments, especially that of speed cop.

BRITISH PREMIER
URGES DAWES PLAN

PORT TALBOT, Wales, May 2.—Prime Minister MacDonald, speaking here to the electors who sent him to parliament, declared he was not going to lose a single chance of putting the report of the reparations experts into operation.

"And I want France to be with me. Let there be no doubt about it," he said.

"I regard the experts' report," MacDonald continued, "as an opportunity for a peace settlement and agreement, which if not taken advantage of by European Statesmen will be one of the most God-send opportunities ever neglected and lost."

The prime minister declared he was glad President Coolidge had referred to disarmament the other day.

"When disarmament comes to be discussed," he said, "the President will find no stronger support in the world for it than from us."

MacDonald appealed to France to work with him and the other allies in "offering Germany a real chance to fulfill its word—a real chance to make a pledge and keep it."

The prime minister said he was going to do his best to carry out that policy, steadily and patiently, but without any humbug or cheating at all.

'Y' QUESTIONS ANSWERED BY OFFICIAL

Stating that there still is confusion in the minds of boys and men of the city concerning features of membership of the Y. M. C. A. and privileges of the new building and equipment, Ralph Smedley, executive secretary, today prepared the following questions and answers for information of the general public:

Who can join the "Y"?

Any boy over 12 years of age, an under 18, who is willing to meet the conditions of living according to Y. M. C. A. ideals; any man over 18 years of age, who will enter into the program of activities or who is in sympathy with the ideals of the organization.

What does it cost?

For boys, 12 to 15 years of age, $7 a year; for boys 15 to 18 years of age, $10 a year; special rates are made on the group membership plan for boys who belong to organized classes or clubs in Sunday schools; for men, 18 or over, $15 a year and business men, $25 a year, including all privileges. Social membership for men, not including the physical department, $6 a year.

Room's Cost Told

Does one have to pay in full in advance?

Dues are payable in advance, but arrangements can be made for payment in installments, one-fourth being paid in cash, and one-fourth in thirty, sixty and ninety days.

How many bedrooms are there in the building, and what do they cost?

There are 83 rooms, with a capacity for about ninety men. The highest rate is $6 a week. There are plenty of rooms as low as $4 a week.

When can the girls and women begin using the pool?

The plans for the women's work have not been made. As soon as this can be done, full announcements will be made. It will probably be in June before the plans can be completed. Mondays have been set apart as ladies' day, and on that day, the gymnasium, swimming pool, and other parts of the building, will be available for the women and girls.

Lobby Open to Public

Can anyone who is not a member come into the building?

Yes, the public lobby is open to visitors. Men are welcome, whether members or not, and ladies are not barred from entering the lobby as well. Men are cordially invited to visit the building and inspect its facilities and make their application for membership.

Can boys under 12 join the Y. M. C. A.?

No. The age limit is 12. However, there will be a special class for younger boys started soon, in which they will be given instruction in swimming and gymnasium work, but they cannot be received as regular members of the boys' department until they are 12 years old.

Is the swimming pool open to the public?

No. The Y. M. C. A. does not "sell" swims. It is not operated as a public pool. The use is limited to members, and members are required to take a physical examination, as a measure of safety to themselves and to others.

ITALIAN BANDS PUT DRUMS ON BLACKLIST SO FAR AS MUSIC CONCERNED, IS WORDLeader Preparing For S. A.
Program May 13 Explains
Difference of Music

The secret of the success of Italian bands and band leadership is really not a secret at all, according to D. C. Cianfoni, director of the Santa Ana band, which is intensively rehearsing numbers on the program to be presented at the high school auditorium here the night of May 13.

One of the main points of difference between the American and the Italian band, Cianfoni said, is in the matter of arranging.

In fact, the director intimated, if it were left entirely to him he would order every bass drum thrown away, and rely solely on tympani.

Orchestra Music Guide

This, he said, would be in line with the endeavor of men of the Italian school to have their instrumentation approximate as nearly as possible that of an orchestra.

"For band purposes, the cornet most closely resembles the soprano voice—and this plan of imitation is pursued as closely as possible throughout, the trombone is the 'tenor,' the baritone is the 'baritone voice' and the euphonium is the 'bass' voice. The remainder of the band is composed of instruments serving as orchestra for the 'singers.'"

"It can readily be seen that the bass drum—which is without tone and is merely an instrument for marking time—has no legitimate place in a band. The tympani, on the other hand, are entirely musical and enter perfectly into the general scheme. There is a bass drum in the Santa Ana band, of course, but it is there more to mark time for us when we are marching, than for any musical purpose."

Notable Record

Cianfoni who was born in 1880 at Arona, a city of 10,000 population twenty miles distant from Rome, Italy, studied under several of the most prominent musicians in that country, including Antonio Colombari, known among the foremost band music composers in Italy; Teofilo De Angelis, years ago guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra; and Giacomo Murri, famous maestro in the art of composing and arranging for bands.

Cianfoni came to the United States in 1906 and for twelve years was conductor of his own band in Philadelphia. While there he played nine seasons at seaside resorts including Atlantic City and Cape May. Later he was summoned to Erie to direct the municipal band. He remained there six years.

OLD ANGLO-FRENCH
ROW IN TUT FRAGAS

CHICAGO, May 2.—More than a century ago a French officer with Napoleon's forces stumbled over a stone covered with strange inscriptions in the sands of Egypt; and as a result the secret of the true significance of the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen may be lost to the world forever.

This is the belief of Prof. D. D. Luckenbill, of the Oriental Institute, University of Chicago. He claims the recent squabble between Howard Carter, British scientist, and the Egyptian government, over the rights of exploring the tomb of the pharaoh dates back to this incident, in 1799, and is a climax of years of smoldering nationalistic hatred.

This century of jealousy between French and British scientists had its inception in French pique over the possession by the British of the famous Rosetta stone, originally discovered by a Frenchman with Napoleon's forces, Prof. Luckenbill claims. The stone, which provides a key to the translation of the Egyptian language, was found in 1779. It was kept in Alexandria. When that city was ceded to the British in 1801 they acquired the stone, and it since has rested in a British museum.

The French, Prof. Luckenbill asserts, have seized upon the Carter expedition as a means of avenging the old wrong and are stirring up the present Egyptian government against Carter and his force of archaeologists.

Pronouncement of judgment in the case of Floyd E. Hatch and Mrs. Bertha Phares, convicted here of contributing to the delinquency of Hatch's two young children, today was postponed for twenty-four hours, owing to the absence of Mrs. Phares' attorney.

Sentence accordingly will be passed on the couple by Superior Judge F. C. Drumm tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Attorney W. F. Menton, counsel for Mrs. Phares, was in Los Angeles today, representing Joseph R. Abernathy, who was scheduled to be sentenced at noon today via federal sentence at noon today in federal mails.

Hatch and Mrs. Phares were tried on the delinquency charge last Monday and found guilty by a jury of accusations that they starved and mistreated the 8-year-old son and 6-year-old daughter of Hatch while living together as man and wife in a local "love nest."

Modern Necromancer Has Magic Lesson to Teach
Prosperity Seekers

Introducing a modern necromancer who by waving his magic wand will cause the pockets of Orange county's walnut growers to bulge with added millions next fall.

He is none other than Prof. L. D. Batchelor, known to Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association members as in charge of the division of orchard management of the University of California.

Prof. Batchelor's wand—it is a mythical one, of course—comes into action in connection with his tips to growers on how and when to irrigate their groves. The additional millions are expected to result from the higher prices received for the walnuts made larger through proper methods of irrigation.

Quality Gains

Not only the size, but also the quality of California's walnut crop this year is to be greatly increased as a result of Prof. Batchelor's moisture and growth experiments, it was learned today.

"Prof. Batchelor has made the astonishing discovery that the walnut increases its size 43 per cent in twenty-eight days, after setting, while in another twenty-eight day period, immediately following, it increases in size only 18 per cent," said a statement received here.

"The conclusion he draws from this discovery is that the soil in walnut groves must be kept moist to a depth of at least six feet, and that this moisture must be placed in the ground during the early days of May in order to obtain the best results."

"Carlyle Thorpe, general manager of the California Walnut Growers' association, regards Prof. Batchelor's findings as the most important development that has been made in walnut field work within the last decade."

"If the walnut growers will awaken to the opportunity which this experiment affords them, and irrigate their groves liberally and without delay," he said, "they can easily make No. 1 walnuts out of what would otherwise be No. 2s."

"During every dry season in the past the crop has run largely to No. 2 walnuts. The grower can turn a big percentage of potential No. 2s into No. 1s by wetting the ground down at least six feet and keeping it moist, but he cannot accomplish this aim by merely keeping the surface moist."

"Our spring rains moistened the ground, in Southern California, not deeper than eighteen or twenty inches, and under ordinary circumstances we would have an over-supply of No. 2 walnuts next fall. Such a crop would be difficult to sell, even at low prices. On the other hand, large sizes of soft shell and budded walnuts always find a ready market at the better prices. It will pay the grower big dividends over and above the cost of labor and water if he will take Prof. Batchelor's advice and act upon it without delay."

Profit Apparent

"The profit in growing No. 1 walnuts as compared with No. 2s is well known among growers," Prof. Batchelor points out. "With virtually twice as many walnuts required a pound in the smaller grade, together with their sale at 6 or 7 cents less per pound, it requires no master mathematician to figure the heavy loss which a grower sustains when he produces a crop that runs heavily to No. 2s."

"It is clear to all students of the problem that one of the limitations to the growth of large walnuts is insufficient water in the soil during the period of rapid growth of the nuts. Just when this period of rapid growth takes place and when it ends, is of prime importance to the practical grower."

"At the end of the rapid growth

RAIL MAGNATE HITS FREEDOM FOR ISLANDS

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Determined opposition to granting independence to the Philippines was voiced by Charles M. Swift, president of the Philippine railway and of the Manila Electric company, before the House insular affairs committee today.

The committee is conducting hearings on the revised Cooper bill and the new Fairfield bill, both of which are designed to sever the islands from the United States sovereignty through the granting of complete autonomy.

Swift insisted that the Filipinos are American citizens and opposed their complete severance from the United States at any time.

"The guarantee of protection which has been assured the Filipinos by congress has created a permanent political status which cannot be annulled," Swift told the committee.

Democrat members of the committee attacked Swift's contention, citing the decision of the United States Supreme court in the cases involving Porto Rican independence, which, they asserted, proved that both peoples under the Constitution can be granted complete autonomy.

Luther Griffith of Seattle told the committee that tobacco interests be represented are ready to invest $150,000 in Philippine tobacco production if the status of

Plan to Curb Use Of Drinkers' 'Gas'

RENO, May 2.—Owing to the alarming use of denatured alcohol known to drinkers as "gas" throughout Nevada and particularly among the Indians, United States Attorney George Springmeyer has requested S. C. Dinsmore, state commissioner of food and drugs, to make some suggestions relative to legislation that will curb the sale of the commodity. The only restriction on the sale of denatured alcohol at present is the federal law which requires druggists to attach to each bottle a label warning the purchaser that it contains poison and that internal use may produce blindness.

Finds Boat 5000 Years Old, Belief

ISTINGBOURNE, Kent, Eng., April 29.—Believed to be of the Neolithic period, or later Stone age, a boat 11 feet long and 3 feet wide, hollowed out of the trunk of an oak tree, has been found in the mud at Elmley Ferry marshes, near here. It is estimated by experts to be 5000 years old.

The islands is definitely fixed in a manner encouraging investments. Griffith supported the new bill by Representative Fairfield, but predicted that before the plebiscite provided in the bill is held, thirty years from now, Filipino sentiment would be in favor of retaining United States sovereignty.

Experiment at Anaheim
"Random samples of 100 nuts were picked weekly in similar, careful, systematic manner from a group of Placentia trees on the property of R. M. Pay of Anaheim.

"These nuts were cut across their largest diameter between the stem and blossom end. Records were kept of the average size of the nuts, as well as of the average size of nuts and shuck combined, for the growing season.

"The actual diameter measurements have been transformed into cross section measurements so they are therefore, in direct proportion to the volume of the nut which is the only true comparative measurement to use.

"After June 28 all the samples measured were within the realm of error in random sampling, and showed no increase in size following that date. The shuck made more relatively late growth than did the nut. The growth curve for the shuck did not flatten out much until the last of June.

Soft Shells Earlier
"It should be particularly noted that this test was made on budded walnuts of the Placentia variety, and as budded trees usually emerge from dormancy and the nuts develop and mature from ten days to two weeks later than the soft shell variety, a comparative development of the size of soft shell walnuts would doubtless occur from ten days to two weeks earlier in the season than in the case of budded. Therefore, irrigation, to stimulate the growth of the nuts should be applied some what earlier on soft shell varieties than on the budded variety.

"For those not familiar with the interpretation of data from curves, a diagram has been prepared showing the periodical actual size of the nuts from May 3 to June 28 when the growth of the nuts terminates. By June 14 the average size of the sample was equivalent to the minimum size of a fancy budded nut.

May Time to Irrigate
"It must be clear from these figures that any irrigation water which is to affect the size of the walnuts should be in the ground during the month of May, and the earlier it is applied during that month, the more effective it will be.

"The volume of the samples of Placentia walnuts described increased 432 per cent during the twenty-eight days from May 3 to 31, and increased only 18 per cent during the following twenty-eight days. This shows when the walnut grower must act, by using plenty of water, if he is intent on producing No. 1 nuts."

ORANGE ATHLETES ARE GIVEN LETTERS

ORANGE, May 2.—An enthusiastic assembly was held yesterday at the Orange Union High school when six athletes received their letters. Sweaters were also presented to these boys, who are: Dick Spencer, Bob Brubaker, Ray Price, Senton Barr, Lavell Durell, and Captain Elmer Nichols.

Snappy school yells were given by the student body, every member of which was proud of the star team.

Captain Nichols, in behalf of the team, gave the coach, M. J. Berg, a small gold football, in token of their gratitude and thanks to him. The program for the assembly proved to be a varied one, and the students who represented Orange in the music contest sang and played their numbers. This was not only very enjoyable for the student body, but it gave more self-confidence to the performers.

A film on the hoof and mouth disease was shown, and Commissioner A. A. Brock explained it with a short talk. The absolute necessity for the stamping out of this disease was put before the students so plainly that they cannot but realize how important it is.

the basement of the new Methodist church in that city. The dinner was prepared and served by the women of the church.

Road Seen As Asset

Numerous Riverside county men voiced appreciation of the wonderful asset the road would be to both Orange and Riverside counties. They declared that the road would be a fact sooner or later, and forecast extensive development in the Elsinore district following construction of such a road.

Declarations were made that a ten-foot road could be constructed for less than $100,000. Talbert said that J. L. McBride, superintendent of Orange county highways, had estimated that it would cost at least $100,000 to build the five miles of mountain highway necessary to connect with the road at the Riverside county line.

Three members of the Riverside county board of supervisors were present, but were not called on for statements as to the attitude of that board. It was understood they were scheduled for remarks, but when midnight approached and there were no indications that the speaking program was nearing its end, the tired listeners bolted the room and drew the session to a close. The solons present from Riverside county were T. C. Jamieson, Claude Hancock and T. C. Packard.

Tells Developments

James B. Lehigh, president of the Elsinore Chamber, presided and in his presentation of the purpose of the meeting, went into details as to the developments that have occurred recently in the Elsinore district and outlined some of the anticipations of the future in the way of still greater developments.

Supervisors in attendance from Orange county were Talbert, S. H. Finley and George Jeffrey, the two latter being accompanied by their wives.

Others from the county were J. L. McBride, W. C. Jerome, Horace Fine, Santa Ana; Carl Hankey, Aaron Buchheim, W. E. Alexander, John Forster, Frank Forster, L. C. Winterburn, J. S. Malcolm, Fred Staffell, San Juan Capistrano; J. A. Armitage Huntington Beach; F. E. Russell, Costa Mesa; A. B. Marshall, James B. Neel, J. S. Thurston, H. G. Heisler, Laguna Beach.

A group of Santa Fe officials from Los Angeles were guests of the entertaining chamber. Newspaper men, present from Banning, Perris, Hemet, San Jacinto and other points promised their influence in helping to make the dream of today an accomplished fact in the not far distant future.

LUNG EXERCISES

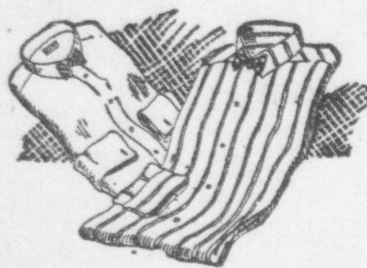

MANFIELD, Eng., May 2.—Breathing exercises for children would cure most human ills, declares Dr. J. E. Wilson, famous health expert. Special lung exercises easily may cause an infant of two to weigh as much as many children of five or six, he says.

Ex-Official Held In Blackmail Plot

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 2.—William J. Corcoran, former district attorney of Middlesex county, was found guilty of blackmail by a jury in the Superior Criminal court here. The jury was out four and one-half hours.

Mrs. Theresa Duggan and J. Warren Kane, indicted with Corcoran as accessories, also were found guilty, while Theodore C. Bearse, a third co-defendant, was found not guilty.

Corcoran was charged specifically with verbally threatening to accuse Kenneth Merrill of Newton of a serious offense with intent to extort money from him. The others, the indictment alleged, aided in enticing Merrill to a Cambridge apartment, where he was placed in a compromising situation and caught in a prearranged raid.

BANKERS DANCE AT ELECTION GATHERING

A dinner dance, with an intermission for the election of officers and an address by S. C. Hartman, president of the First National bank of Santa Ana, featured last night's annual meeting of the Orange County Bankers' association at the Anaheim Elks' club.

Officers chosen for the coming year were, president, J. M. Woodworth, president of the First National bank of Santa Ana; secretary, J. I. Hinckle, cashier of the First National bank of Huntington Beach; treasurer, J. R. Porter, cashier of the National bank of Orange. Horace Benjamin of Anaheim, retiring president, was in charge of the meeting.

"The banker of today," said Hartman, "is not the austere individual with a stony face and glassy eye that we used to know. Rather, he is a friend, an understanding and helpful individual. The banker of today has an ideal of service."

Hartman commented upon the widespread confidence that the public has in banks as an indication of stability.

"The business itself," said he, "calls for high character and develops high character. It is a remarkable thing, a tribute to the business of banking, that only one-hundredth of 1 per cent of those employed in banking have been found lacking in integrity in their relations with their business."

An excellent dinner, an excellent floor and excellent music combined to give the dancers an enjoyable evening. More than 325 plates were set, and every reservation was used.

HEROIC SAILOR RISKS LIFE TO RESCUE TEN

BALTIMORE, May 2.—An electric battery flashlight and the heroism of Neils Neilson, first mate of the Norwegian steamship Cissy, saved the lives of the 10 shipwrecked seamen who are in Baltimore, sole survivors of the Santiago of the Ward line, one of the three vessels known to have been lost in the storm that swept the Atlantic coast with a total of 42 dead.

Neilson tied a rope about his waist and went overboard to aid the exhausted castaways when their frail little lifeboat capsized as lines were thrown to it from the deck of the rescue ship.

At the risk of his life Neilson battled the fury of one of the worst storms in years, adjusting lines about the men who were too exhausted to do more than cling to the side of the upturned lifeboat.

Not until the last of the 10 men was safely aboard the Cissy did Neilson permit members of the crew to draw him aboard. As the Cissy unloaded the cargo of nitrate brought from Chile at the Canton docks of the Cottman company Neilson modestly dodged questions as to the rescue.

Capt. J. S. Baldwin went down with his ship, lashed to the mast, according to the sailors, and Second Mate Jensen and Chief Engineer Lord either sank with him or were washed overboard.

Firemen Rescue Boy Held Fast Between Walls

BROOKLYN, May 2.—The ball with which 10-year-old George Burdolph was playing with his sister Doris and brother Henry in the rear yard of their home bounded into the narrow space between the brick wall of an apartment house and the frame wall of a barn.

George went in after it. He reached the ball, but when he tried to crawl back found himself stuck. He wriggled about and only became stuck the faster. Then he began to cry. Fireman Edward Burton came to his rescue.

Burton was as unsuccessful as the boy, so a call was sent to hook and ladder No. 112 and a crew responded with a hydraulic jack. It was put between the walls and that of the stable was forced back far enough for a slender member of the crew to crawl in and bring the boy out. The ball was recovered, too.

George was treated for lacerations of face and hands and shock.

French Village Recalls War As Big Shell Lands

LORIENT, France, May 2.—Memories of war days were recalled in the town of Lorient when it was bombed by long-range French naval guns. A heavy coast battery testing cannon accidentally sent several high caliber shells crashing into the village fifteen miles from the scene of the firing. The shells landed in the center of the town behind the local church. There were no casualties but the entire population was frightened cold.

PERFECT TWINS

NEW YORK, May 2.—Jacob and Edward Friend of East Orange, N. J., twins and students at Columbia university, have received Phi Beta Kappa keys—the first twins in the country to be thus honored. The two men look alike, dress alike, sing in the Columbia Glee club together, go to the same classes in Columbia college, and for four years have received identical grades.

Opens Securities Company Branch In S. A. Bank Offices

K. E. LAMBERT, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the First Securities company, Los Angeles, opening in Santa Ana today, at the Santa Ana branch of the Pacific-Southwest bank.

With K. E. Lambert as resident manager, the First Securities company, which is identical with the ownership of the First National bank of Los Angeles and the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings bank today announced the opening of a branch office here, in the local branch of the Pacific-Southwest bank.

After representing the Kiwanis club for many years in New York and the Middle West, Lambert came to Santa Ana last July, since which time he has been prominent in Kiwanis club activities and in intimate touch with many leaders in financial circles. He had been associated for some months with the bond department of the main office of the First Securities company in Los Angeles, preparatory to assuming his duties as manager of the local office.

"Through the Santa Ana office of the First Securities company there is available to Santa Ana investors the experienced service of a large bond house," said Lambert. "Not only does this office maintain a selected list of high grade bonds available for immediate investment, but also offers a complete investment service through which statistical reports and analyses of the market position of corporations may be secured. Investors may file their list of investments with the company to secure protection against bonds, defaults and reorganizations."

BROTHERS FAIL TO RECOGNIZE EACH OTHER

LONDON, May 2.—Samuel Carey, cowboy in typical Texas garb sauntered up the main street here looking for someone to tell him where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Carey lived. Down the street toward him strode a young man. The bechamped and sombered cowboy stopped him and asked where he could find the Carey home.

The young man told him and, curious, asked him why he was seeking them, explaining he was their son, Leonard Carey. The cowboy looked at him a second. The young man thought his dazed expression dangerous and looked about nervously.

Then it came out. The cowboy was none other than Samuel Carey, his brother, dumfounded to find his "kid" brother so much of a man. Then, arm in arm, the pair hurried off for a family reunion.

Samuel Carey left home five years ago and knocked about until he reached Texas, where he went to work on a large ranch on the Mexican border. Growing restless he planned to visit his home in Danbury, Conn., but arrived to find the old house burned down. Former neighbors told him his parents had moved to Carmel, so he started out for that town, finally finding them.

Man Saved From Noose Says Life Has Lost Thrill

SAN QUENTIN PENITENTIARY, Calif., May 2.—"I am not happy now to have escaped death. I have been killed once and life has lost its interest."

Thus did Isaac Wolfgang, condemned murderer, relieved at the eleventh hour in the death cell here yesterday, sum up the night of terror he spent waiting for the dawn of "hangingman's day."

Half an hour before he expected to go to the gallows Wolfgang was told by Warden James A. Johnston that a writ of error had temporarily saved him from the noose.

"I seemed to have died during the night," he said. "I would have suffered no pain on the gallows. Then when they told me I was not to hang, the shock was terrible."

Flood Feared As Mash Plugs Sewer

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., May 2.—Schenectady sewers are being plugged up by home brew mash and many cellars are in danger of being flooded, Charles Hapes, superintendent of sewers, said.

COOLIDGE CLUB APPOINTS MEN TO AID VOTE

With the view of piling up a big Coolidge vote in Tuesday's primary election, the Santa Ana Coolidge club has appointed a committee, consisting of one representative for each precinct in the city to urge on the voters the necessity of going to the polls. A committee also has been appointed to arrange for transportation to the polls of those without machines.

Calls for automobile transportation will be received at Coolidge headquarters, telephone 2243-W. The committee in charge of automobile transportation consists of C. H. Chapman, H. T. Trueblood, E. V. A. Pomeroy, J. S. Smart and J. K. Hermon.

The precinct committee follows:

Number 1, W. L. Deimling; 2, J. E. Gowan; 3, Harry H. Bristow; 4, Guy Gilbert; 5, W. C. May; 6, William M. May; 7, Mac O. Robbins; 8, J. C. Wallace; 9, Mit Phillips; 10, H. M. Sammis; 11, W. D. Baker; 12, J. R. Mayer; 13, J. E. Liebig; 14, Harry Hanson; 15, O. K. Forgy; 16, J. W. Flagg; 17, P. G. Beisel; 18, F. L. Austin; 19, Charles F. Hill; 20, J. A. Timmons; 21, E. L. Morrison; 22, W. S. G. Todd; 23, D. F. Cook; 24, George Huntington; 25, Z. B. West Jr.; 26, A. G. Walkinshaw; 27, C. E. Walker; 28, W. H. Henderson; 29, E. A. Noel; 30, Charles F. Smith; 31, A. J. Lasby; 32, A. J. Padgham; 33, Nat Neff; 34, George McPhoe; 35, C. S. Osborn; 36, C. B. Wheatley; 37, M. L. Keeler.

The committee for Tustin consists of W. S. Suddaby, William I. Ferrey and Edwin McWilliams.

REFUSES $1500 INCREASE FOR STATE JOB

WICHITA, May 2.—David D. Leahy, dean of Kansas newspaper reporters, and in many ways one of the most remarkable public officials who ever held office in this state, is once more a private citizen.

And the circumstances connected with his resignation from his most recent office—that of election commissioner for Wichita—are in full keeping with the rest of his career as a servant of the people.

Leahy will probably go down in Kansas history as the most indifferent public official to holding his job who ever performed his part in Kansas. He has always been a most conscientious and energetic performer of his public duties. But he never would pull wires to hold his job. Moreover, if anybody wanted his position, who he thought ought to have it, he was always ready to step out.

Refused $1,500 in salary. Leahy's successor in the present office—O. H. Blase, a Democrat—receives a salary of $3,600 a year. Leahy never received more than $2,100, although he was entitled, under the law, to the $3,600, since the size of Wichita warranted that salary. But Leahy would not accept the additional $1,500 a year.

telling the governor of the state repeatedly that the office was not worth that much salary even. Several times he advocated the abolishment of his own office, declaring it could be made an adjunct of the city clerk's office as it is in all the cities of the state except Kansas City.

When he was deputy United States marshal, he even helped oust himself in favor of Sam Hill, and when he was secretary to Governor W. R. Stubbs, he helped a Democratic successor, Grant Harrington, to learn the ways of the office—much to the astonishment of Harrington.

Following Wilson's election as President, Leahy realized that he would soon lose his place as deputy United States marshal. It worried him less than anything he could think of, for he has a ready style of writing and could get a position on a newspaper without any trouble. It was different with Sam Hill, of Great Bend, who wanted to be deputy in Leahy's place. Hill called on Mike Sweeney, of Pawnee Rock, to learn how to get into office.

Helped Another Get His Job.

"I don't know anything about it," Leahy said.

Harrington was loath to admit it,

but finally agreed. "Well then, you come up here and I will appoint you executive clerk under Stubbs," proceeded Leahy. "I will put you next to everything and when Hodges comes into office you will know the work so well that nobody will ever know there has been a change in office."

Harrington was dubious for a time, being inclined to think there was a joker in Leahy's proposition. He feared Leahy was trying to trap him. Such courtesy between men of different parties was rare. It was with difficulty that Leahy persuaded Harrington that everything was on the level and he accepted the position where he understudied the private secretary. Leahy is well known all over the Southwest. He has free lanced as a newspaper correspondent in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. But now he says his active days are over.

With some misgivings, Hill followed Sweeney's advice. To his astonishment, Leahy received him cordially, even after he had told him that he wanted to get Leahy out of office.

"You want me to help you get my job?" inquired Leahy.

"Well—that's about what it sums up to," said Hill hesitating.

And Leahy proceeded, efficiently and cheerfully, to show Hill how to make out applications and how to get the appointment. Hill was appointed and served eight years.

When George Hodges of Olathe was elected governor, Leahy learned that Grant Harrington was slated to be private secretary.

The executive clerk had resigned after the election because he knew he would lose his position soon anyway. Ordinarily the office would be filled by some needy Republican who needed a job of $150 a month to tide him over. But that did not fit in with Leahy's idea of public service. He knew that Harrington needed a little schooling and he proposed to give it to him. He sent for Harrington.

"Grant, I hear you are to be private secretary to Hodges," he said.

Harrington was loath to admit it,

FRENCH DRESSING FOR FRUIT SALADS

FRENCH DRESSING for fruit salads is more delicate if made with lemon juice instead of vinegar, and paprika instead of black pepper. It may be made up in quantity for two or three occasions, as follows: Two-thirds cupful Wesson Oil, one-third cupful lemon juice, one-half teaspoonful salt, one-quarter teaspoonful paprika.

Place in a jar. Shake until emulsified, or until the oil is broken up.

The only limit to the kind of fruit salads you can make is the number of fruit combinations you can think of. A fruit salad must be put together with a dressing—otherwise it is only a fruit cup.

The Wesson Oil salad and salad dressing recipe booklet contains many delightful suggestions. Drop a postal to Wesson Oil, 112 Market Street, San Francisco, and ask for it.

SANTA ANA CITY OF SQUARE BUSINESS DEALINGS, MARKED BY CORDIALITY OF PERSONS

Santa Ana is becoming noted as a city of square business dealings where the glad hand is always extended to strangers, according to the stories told in hotel lobbies, railway stations and the automobile tourist park here.

As P. S. Lucas explains the spirit: "The stranger in Santa Ana feels that here is an ideal home and business community where the 'queen of courtesy' meets the 'king of kindness' with a smile of contentment upon the throne of a square business deal."

Nearly all tourists tell shameful but true stories of how they are "bled" by merchants in other cities, Lucas added, while in Santa Ana the smile of confidence thrusts aside all mistrust and visitors are treated "better here than at home."

This policy exists in Santa Ana and is enjoyed by visitors and local residents alike, he declared, with the result that the city is progressing and developing all the time while outsiders complain of hard times elsewhere.

"Getting down to hard business facts," Lucas continued, "it pays to display and to live this square business policy, as may be proved by the comment of visitors. Even though no sale has been made, the stranger will have received the Santa Ana impress, and wherever he goes he will blaze the trail to Santa Ana by his story of handsome treatment and square business."

"This impress—confidence and friendship and brotherhood and co-operation—will prove so big that nothing can stop the combination from achieving almost anything that is attempted for the good of Santa Ana according to the traveling philosophers who so freely express their good feelings toward this city at the North Main street tourist camp.

Today, one of the appreciative autists who refused to divulge his name, though he admitted coming from Illinois, bubbled over with enthusiasm as he said:

"People 'sell' Santa Ana in your shops, your filling stations, your restaurants, hotels, banks and even in the offices of your professional men, and you will be greeted with the most pleasant kind of smile, offer of assistance or service and if you give the fellow half a chance he'll start right in talking about the glorious prospects of the wonderful country this is, and the great city it is going to be."

"Why, man, the spirit is so contagious that I can't leave Santa Ana without telling nearly everyone I meet what a wonderful place Santa Ana is. I've been here several times and each time I hate to leave and attend to my business."

"The people here have certainly sold Santa Ana to me and I'm going to help sell Santa Ana to the world. I tell you it's a great advertising scheme for your city, and the best part of all is that this kind—the best advertising in the world—costs nothing in money, and requires only a little enthusiasm in the many, many great features of your rich little city."

FULLERTON MAY CONTRACT WITH ORANGE COUNTY FOR HEALTH ADMINISTRATION

FULLERTON, May 2. — Apparently entered into with the county. When the matter of the cutting of obnoxious weeds in Fullerton came up it was revealed that the city had been operating on "a bluff" for some time in the matter of ordering residents to remove the weeds. Although the city has threatened to cut the weeds in question and assess the cost to the landowner there is no ordinance to back up such a step, City Manager and Engineer Ed. Record revealed. The trustees intimated that an ordinance covering the point would be drawn up and the "official bluffing" done away with. The standing committees for the year were appointed.

Several trustees expressed the opinion that the city would secure better health administration at a lower cost if an agreement could

DELAYS RULING FOR PAIR EACH AFTER DECREE

Which, if either, of the couple will secure the divorce each seeks, remained undecided today following the trial of an action brought by John D. McMillan against Ruth McMillan, formerly of Newport Beach.

After hearing the case here, Superior Judge R. Y. Williams late yesterday ordered attorneys to submit briefs.

McMillan's charges against his wife included accusations of infidelity. He named Byron Orr as the "other man" in the case, claiming that his wife was guilty of misbehavior while he was employed nights at the Newport Beach pumping plant.

In a cross-complaint and general denial of her husband's charges, Mrs. McMillan also charged cruelty. She claimed her husband as a poor provider. She admitted his claim that she had failed to prepare his meals on occasion, and said the reason she didn't was because he provided no food for her to prepare.

Byron Orr, the wife claimed, was a friend of her husband and came to see the latter, not his wife. He visited the McMillan home one night to see McMillan and waited all night for the latter to come home, Mrs. McMillan said. She denied that there had been any improper conduct.

SEPARATE SUPPORT PAIR CLASH MONDAY

The trial of an action for separate maintenance brought by Mrs. Alberta R. Page against Ben F. Page, today was scheduled for trial here Monday at 10 a. m. in Superior Judge F. C. Drumm's court.

Mrs. Page, in filing her suit, charged her husband with desertion and failure to provide. In his answer to her complaint, Page declared that his wife did not desert and that he was at all times ready to provide for her if she would return and live with him.

The Pages were married in Tonopah, Nev., October 21, 1922, and their separation took place April 20, 1923.

Attorney O. A. Paco's represents Mrs. Page in the case, her husband having retained Attorney B. E. Tarver.

At a hearing on an order to show cause, held shortly after the suit was filed, Judge Drumm ordered Page to pay $25 per month temporary alimony, pending outcome of the trial.

Sum Alleged Due On Note Is Asked

In an action on file today in the superior court, the J. I. Case Plow works asked judgment for $300, alleged to be due on a note from E. F. Mathews.

Building Renews Activity as May Book Here Open

The month of May was given a good start in building activities, it was announced here today by City Building Inspector W. S. Decker, who reported three permits issued yesterday, two of them being in "four figures," as he termed these calling for larger expenditures.

Edwin Baird of 413 North Main street secured a building permit to construct a five-room residence and garage at 1315 Cypress avenue, at a cost of $4000.

A six-room stucco bungalow and garage costing $3000 will be built by A. E. Fowler, it was announced, on his lot at 1110 South Flower street.

LOCAL MAN'S YACHT IN NARROW ESCAPE

With a tale of how his yacht, "The Louise," narrowly escaped colliding with a steamship in a dense fog off the Lower California coast, E. D. Burge, local capitalist, today had returned from a very invigorating voyage at sea on which he was accompanied by friends.

Warned by the sounding of the fog horn on the steamship, Burge avoided hitting the heavy vessel by a scant 300 feet, he said, and for several miles the two ships traveled abreast before they were able to separate.

The land was hidden by the fog, Burge said in describing how he was constantly warned of the danger of grounding off Point Loma, near San Diego, by the continual sounding of the fog horns and whistles. On account of the thick weather, slow progress was made by "The Louise" up the coast. The vessel was forced to wait several hours outside of Orange county harbor this morning on account of the low tide and did not dock until 4 a. m.

CONCRETE POURED FOR S. A. STREETS

The construction firm of Wells and Bressler today had finished pouring five inches of concrete on West Eighth street from Garney street to Bristol street, and on Baker, Sixth, Flower and Lowell streets. This completes a section in the northwest part of the city which had been under consideration for paving a number of times, according to R. L. Loucks, assistant city engineer, and the completed work is viewed with great satisfaction by the engineering department as well as by persons owning property in the improved district.

Some of the paving in the district is now ready for travel, but it will require nearly three weeks for the fresh cement to become sufficiently solid for heavy traffic, Loucks stated, and at that time all street barriers in the district will be removed.

Practical Notes On S. S. Lesson

BY CAL OGBURN
Lesson for May 4, 2 Ks. 17:9-18.

The Assyrian Exile of Israel. "The children of Israel did secretly things that were not right against Jehovah their God."—v. 9. Israel had met a tragic death. The kingdom was forever at an end. It was dead—and without the possibility of a resurrection. Dead socially, economically, politically, morally, religiously. No longer did it function in any way as one of the nations of the world. The lesson we have for today's study might well be called the verdict of the coroner's jury, which found that the death of the kingdom of Israel was by suicide.

True enough, the people had been defeated in war with the Assyrians and by them carried away into captivity. But this was only the occasion, and not the cause. Israel had been declining in power for many years. How long we may not know. But it began when the first self-inflicted wound was made, when "the children of Israel did secretly things that were not right against Jehovah."

And just here is the beginning of the end of all national existence—when wrongs are planned and executed in secret. When there are, among other evils that are hidden, clandestine meetings at which alliances are made and "gentlemen's agreements" entered into in which God had no part. Where and when it is never asked if it is right in the sight of God, but it is good policy. Where and when it is forgotten or winked at that a thing morally wrong cannot be diplomatically right. A superficial historian would have said that the downfall of Israel resulted from the Assyrian invasion, and the failure of Egypt—Israel's ally—to respond. That it was impossible for the small kingdom to hold out against attacks of the powerful one. But Israel had forsaken God. Secret sin had long since taken away the people's strength.

How proud we are of one of our national mottos, in "God we trust." But are we really doing it? Is our trust and confidence in God? Do the men at the head of the nation feel that they are in partnership with God, in the management of governmental affairs? Then why the uncovering of so much that is evil, that was supposed to be so secretly done that "it never will be found out?"

If it were possible to know at any time the extent of a nation's secret wrong-doing, one could very closely estimate the strength and stability of that nation. As much in peace as in war, the man who secretly disobeys the laws of his country is a traitor to it. He is inviting an "Assyrian" invasion, and making its success possible. Disobedience to the laws of God and of good men, though it be in secret, is only a form of anarchy, and a nation of anarchists is an utter impossibility. And God is preparing an "Assyrian" army to hasten the national death of such as are committing moral suicide. The place to make a nation strong and secure is in the secret place with God, and not elsewhere—surely not in secret "profiteering" and "graft."

"They built them high places in all their cities, from the tower of the watchman to the fortified city."—v. 9. They used the harvest from secret sin as seed from which to raise a crop of open sin. Nothing strange or unusual about that, either as individuals or as a nation. It is the normal course of personal and national wrong-doing. Really there is no such thing as secret sin.

It is of the very nature of all evil to reveal itself in some way sooner or later. The sin that is at first covert, and of which one is more than half ashamed, becomes in time a habit. And its establishment itself as a custom. One comes to have the courage, or the foolhardiness, so sin openly and even to boast about it to other transgressors. Certain sins become popular, and often to the extent that they are of national scope. Just now this applies to the violators of laws pertaining to the enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment. How strong is a nation, numerically and financially "great," that is honeycombed with moral rottenness? This is a pertinent question. Let Israel and Germany answer for America.

In a speech that he made in 1891, the German Kaiser said: "It is my firm conviction that every youth who enters a corps or beer-drinking club will receive the true direction of his life from the spirit which prevails in them. It is the best education which a young man can get for his future life, and he who scoffs at the German student corps does not penetrate to the real meaning. I hope that as long as there are German students the spirit which is fostered in their corps, and which is steered by strength and courage, will be preserved, and that you will always take delight in handling the dueling blade."

"I denounce Christianity," Nietzsche, the philosopher, said, "as the greatest of all possible corruptions, since it combats the good red blood of human life. The qualities of mercy, charity, self-sacrifice are utterly pernicious, since they mean the transfer of power from the hands of the weak, whose proper business it is to serve the strong. Therefore be hard. Face life defiant. Live dangerously. Will to live in perfect power."

Is it any wonder that Germany, as did Israel, went down to death?—and to a suicide's grave? The lesson for us is plain. "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people."

NOTICE
All houses and buildings in which any drainage or plumbing arrangements are constructed are required to be connected to the city sewer system when such sewer exists within 200 feet of the property. Property owners are instructed to comply with the ordinance within 30 days.

Have You Had Your SOMA BATH

WONDERFULLY INVIGORATING — REFRESHING AND STIMULATING

SOMA BATHS and SOMA MINERAL WATER brought great relief to Mrs. Caulfield who suffered severely with eczema for 47 years. SOMA BATHS and SOMA MINERAL WATER cured Mr. Rush of liver trouble and indigestion. Mr. Madden for 7 years suffered with the painful neuritis and he was cured by using SOMA BATHS and drinking SOMA MINERAL WATER.

Many others suffering from rheumatism, neuritis, eczema, boils, swollen joints, varicose veins, high blood pressure, pimples, obesity, neuralgia, burns, scalds, etc., etc., have been greatly relieved and benefitted by taking SOMA BATHS and drinking SOMA MINERAL WATER.

This famous product in its natural state from the CASCADE RANGES is for sale and on display in the GRAND CENTRAL MARKET.

One jar of SOMA NATURAL BATH CRYSTALS is good for from 2 to 4 baths, and one jar of SOMA CONCENTRATED CRYSTALS is good for 20 gallons of mineral water. The bath crystals sell for $1.00 per jar and $6.00 for a case of 6 jars. The mineral water sells for 50 cents per jar.

Take a SOMA BATH in your own home and drink SOMA MINERAL WATER and you will derive the same benefits and results that you would get if you had the time and money to visit any of the famous springs at a cost of a few cents compared to your cost of visiting in person the health resorts and springs scattered around the country.

Had Close Shave

"My wife and children thought I was dying when, after an attack of acute pains in my stomach, I became unconscious. It was right after our Sunday dinner. They say I looked like dead and guess I had a pretty close shave. I had been having more or less stomach trouble and bloating with gas for past two years and could get no permanent help. Talking with a friend about my attack, he advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. I have not had any gas or stomach trouble since taking it eighteen months ago." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all drug-gists.—Adv.

Worker Is Killed In Election Riot

BERLIN, May 2.—Disorders attending the campaign for the parliamentary elections which will be held Sunday reached a crisis today when a group of Folk Party workers in Geoplen suburb shot and killed a workman who objected to their distributing Folkist election posters.

Trouble also was reported in Frankfurt in the Palatinate, where Socialists used a fire hose to repulse Communist agitators who attempted to break up a Socialist election meeting.

BEGGS WAY OVER U. S.
NEW YORK, May 1.—Crawford Gilligan started to walk across the United States from Los Angeles last February, but he fell a victim to kind motorists. Instead of the long, hard hike across the country which he had planned, he was picked up so often by passing automobile drivers that he made the unusual 3500-mile trip in 19 days.

M. Alfred Angot, the Parisian who, for more than 50 years, never went to his duties as chief of the French weather bureau without his umbrella, has passed away at the age of 75.

GIRL BANDIT HELPS RECOVER BANK LOOT

(By United Press Leased Wire)
TAFT, May 2.—Officers today hoped to recover the balance of the $5700 stolen from the state bank of Taft on March 13, following the asserted confession of Eleanor Walling, "bobbed haired bandit," to complicity in the theft.

The girl led police to a cache where they found $2800 of the stolen money, but location of the remainder is still unknown.

Miss Walling has been in jail for several weeks as a suspect in the robbery, along with "Bill" Crockett and Walter Taylor, who have not yet confessed a part in the crime.

Find Man Guilty Of Wife Slaying

MOUND CITY, Kan., May 2.—John E. Scott, convicted by a jury of murdering his wife, faced a 25-year sentence today. He was found guilty on a charge of murder in the second degree by the jury after 24 hours deliberation.

Dance Season at Legion Hall Will End in Carnival

With a big carnival night marking the end of the dance season at the American Legion hall, Manager Walker today announced that the season here had been successful in the way of pleasing the Santa Ana dancing public.

Walker stated that the winning candidates for the cash prize which has been offered for the best dancers will be awarded tonight. Tomorrow night will close the dancing season and a special carnival dance has been arranged, it was stated.

Upon the closing, remodeling of the dance hall will begin, Walker stated, adding that with the enlarged hall, ready by September, he will be able to accommodate larger crowds than at present and that the usual high standard of dancing and entertainment will be adhered to.

SNEEZE BREAKS ARM
LOVELAND, Colo., May 2.—A violent sneeze resulted in a broken arm for Guy Branson here last night. His arm was thrown over the back of his chair at the time.

GIVE PAGEANT IN SPITE OF RAIN STORM

KINSTON, N. C., May 1.—Great-grandchildren of colonial and antebellum celebrities impersonated them in a remarkable pageant presented here recently. The history of half of a state was depicted in a series of tableaux, in which 1,000 people took part.

A stage 100 feet wide was erected in a tobacco warehouse, a barn-like structure occupying half of a city block. A small army of decorators converted the warehouse into a theater. Five thousand people were seated; other thousands stood.

Fifty towns in twelve counties were represented in the cast. There were twelve acts. Daughters of the American Revolution, Daughters of the Confederacy, scores of other organizations and county and town officials co-operated in the undertaking. The pageant was given the title of "Eastern Carolina in Action."

Heavy Rain Storm.
When the time arrived for the actors to assemble here it was raining all over the territory. Hundreds of automobiles were used to convey them. Some traveled 100 miles each way. Not a person was missing when the roll was called. The curtain was only five minutes late. The performance required four hours and a half. A tobacco factory across the street from the theater was used as dressing quarters. When the red-coated brass band, which served as an orchestra, struck up the preliminary overture rain was falling in torrents. General George Washington, Baron de Graffenreid, Vice President King, Chief "Hancock," Governors Caswell and Holmes, and hundreds of colonial dames, continental blues-and-buffs, British grenadiers, Confederate cavaliers and infantrymen, Southern planters, allegorical characters, and others, had to cross the street on a three-plank trestle because the rain was so heavy that streets were flooded.

Recall Early Events.
The twelve acts were in chronological sequence. Wayne County's company presented the departure of Captain Slocum and colonial soldiers for Moore's creek, where a battle was fought between the colonists and British and Tories. Teachers people provided a precise replica of a banquet in George Washington's honor. Joseph Pennington impersonated the President. Kinston society leaders danced the minuet in costume.

Jones county's company won a silver loving cup with a stirring military scene of Civil War days. Halifax's troupe in an industrial scene and the introduction of scores of symbolic characters and world war figures in a tableau concluded the performance.

It was estimated that $50,000 was expended on costumes. Various patriotic societies and individuals financed the pageant.

Marquette Prize Taken By Indian
MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 2.—Uniquely enough, one of the two men who are to receive the first Doctor of Philosophy degrees ever awarded at Marquette university here, as a result of completion of the required post-graduate work, is a native of India.

Nand Singh of Punjab, East India, who has been in this country for more than ten years, has completed his course and will receive this singular honor from Marquette university in June. The degree has been conferred as an honor awarded by Marquette university several times, but this is the first

Horse Safer Than Auto at Crossings

TOPEKA, May 2.—One hundred and three persons were killed and 474 injured in accidents at Santa Fe railroad highway crossings in 1923, says a statement issued today by W. B. Storey, president of the system.

"Automobiles should be safer than horses, because they do not become frightened and are more easily controlled," Storey said, "but the opposite seems to be the case."

year it is to be given as the result of course completion.

Although Nand Singh is a full-time professor in the department of chemistry at Marquette university, he finds time for his class work, his research, his thesis and numerous lecture tours, as he is much in demand for talks in all parts of the Northwest.

Jury Recommends Mercy for Slayer

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—Barney Brannon, convicted of first degree murder for having killed his sister-in-law, Mrs. Dan Cronin, will be sentenced Monday. The jury returned the verdict last night with a recommendation that a life sentence be imposed.

Brannon claimed that Mrs. Cronin was killed accidentally while he and his wife were struggling for possession of the pistol which fired the fatal shot.

FIRE STOPS DANCE
DU BOISTOWN, Pa., May 1.—When the wild jangle of the fire alarm broke up the dancing party of the city firemen and their wives in the borough hall here, the women assisted their husbands in dragging the hose cart to the scene of the fire and in laying the hose.

Stocks, Bonds, and Financial News

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, May 2.—Optimism resulting from the establishment of a lower bank rate continued the dominating influence in stock exchange activities. Thursday's substantial recovery in the general list was maintained and extended, and the financial district was in a state of cheerfulness that presented a decided contrast to the spirit prevailing earlier in the week.

New highs on the rally were reached by an impressive list of industrials, including Steel, Studbaker, Baldwin, General Electric, Can and in fact all the principal vehicles of speculation.

Among the issues of the specialty time record prices for the year were attained by Marine pld., and Colorado Fuel and Iron.

BRISK BUILDING IN ORANGE SHOWN

ORANGE, May 2.—Despite predicted slumps, building continued briskly during April it was revealed today, when the building department announced that permits for the month aggregated $53,600, better last month's record by approximately $13,000.

Undaunted by reports of adverse conditions, local builders continued to push ahead to a possible new building record for the year. A permit a day was issued during the month, eleven calling for dwellings.

Other projects launched during the month included a church structure, an office building, woman's clubhouse, besides seven private garages, five additions and four remodeling jobs.

Last month, records show, building slumped to $40,850. However, with April surpassing the $50,000 mark, the total valuation of permits for the first four months of the year shows a gain over the corresponding period last year.

The total to date stands at $261,700.

The following permits were issued during the month:

GRAIN PRICES GAIN ON CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill., May 2.—Grains closed showing sharp gains for the day on Chicago Board of Trade today.

Wheat advanced steadily during the day's trading. The market received good support all around. Millers were good buyers of the cash articles. Some export business was worked but the exact amount could not be ascertained.

Some export inquiry and better cash demands strengthened corn as did the higher wheat prices of the cash articles. Some export business was worked but the exact amount could not be ascertained.

Oats advanced due to none too favorable crop advices.

Provisions closed higher in sympathy with hogs, cables and grain.

MORE SOUTHLAND PERSONS AT MOVIES

Federal amusement taxes collected during April, on March business, indicated that the attendance at motion picture theaters and other places of amusement in Southern California increased 3,152,000, comparing March of this year with the corresponding month of 1923, according to word which A. B. Pilch, deputy collector here for Orange county, has received from Collector Rex B. Goodcell at Los Angeles.

Collector Goodcell, in a report sent to Washington, stated that amusement tax receipts for the month were $352,710 as against $252,209 collected in April, 1923. The tax paid represents an attendance during March at motion picture theaters and other places of amusement of 20,350,000, compared with 17,225,000 for March of last year, and indicates that $4,227,000 was spent for amusements as against $3,002,000 for the corresponding month of 1923, a gain of $1,225,000.

"Here is further evidence that business conditions in Southern California are still on the up-grade," declared Collector Goodcell.

RICKARD PLANS DEMPSEY BOUT SEPTEMBER 6

Promoter Confident Jack Will Sign to Battle Wills For Title

(By HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, May 2.—Certain that he will get Jack Dempsey's signature on the articles, Tex Rickard proceeded today with plans for the Dempsey-Wills heavyweight championship fight in Jersey City September 6.

Rickard said he had gone over the ground thoroughly and had made virtually all arrangements. The new law in Jersey will permit him to charge a top price of $25 for tickets and he wants to sell the cheapest seats at $5.

Engineers already have drawn plans for the reinforcement of the big pine stadium where Dempsey and Carpenter fought and work will be started as soon as the weather becomes favorable.

100,000 Capacity.
Rickard thinks that he may be able to provide seating room for 100,000 spectators and he feels that the receipts are certain to be in excess of $1,000,000.

While no figures were made public by Rickard, it is understood that Wills accepted terms for a guarantee of $200,000, or an option on accepting a percentage of the receipts. Dempsey, no doubt, will insist upon an option of a percentage if it should bring him more than $500,000.

The talk that Dempsey might back out through fear of the colored challenger is all bunk. The champion has allowed the opinion to circulate that he was afraid of Wills for the purpose of steaming up the fight. As a matter of fact, the fight needs little steam.

Champ Should Win.
Dempsey ought to win from Wills and he should have no more trouble than he had with Firpo. It is quite certain that he can't come closer to losing the title against Wills than he did when he was fighting Firpo and leave the ring the champion.

Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, said this morning that his fighter was now training and that he was in fine physical condition.

He needs a couple of fights to get him on edge, however, and he will get one workout on May 12 when he meets Bartley Madden at the Queensboro club. He has another change to get a good workout against Quintin Romero, but he is in no danger of suffering a setback in either fight that would take the Dempsey contest away from him.

KEARNS DENIES CHAMP HAD SIGNED.
LOS ANGELES, May 2.—"Rickard might have Wills but he hasn't got Dempsey," Jack Kearns, manager for the champion, declared when told that the New York promoter had planned a fight between the latter and the dusky title aspirant. Kearns said he was willing to "talk business" however, when questioned on the matter.

If Rickard really intends to stage a battle in the New Jersey bowl on September 6, Kearns will go to New York and draw up the terms, he declared.

Yesterday's hero: Weyland Dean. The young Giant pitcher got two singles scored twice and drove in one and won his second game of the season by beating the Braves, 9 to 1.

GOSSIP OF THE RING

For a young man who has suffered the disappointment of a very serious setback at the very beginning of his career, Paul Berlenbach, the greatest hitting product the ring has produced in years, has retained a surprising amount of confidence and assurance in his future.

Instead of regarding the defeat he met at the right hand punch of Jack Dempsey as a blow that blasted his hopes and ruined his career, the young former Olympic wrestler looks upon it as a valuable lesson well learned and an experience that was needed to make him a finished fighter.

"Fighting," Berlenbach said a few days ago, "is like any other sport or any profession—you have to learn it and know it before you can get to the top. My good friend, Hughey McQuillan, never could have made good with the Giants if he had pitched only ten games in the bush league, and it wasn't within reason that I could get up with the champions without having more experience than I was able to get in ten professional fights."

"I didn't have a chance to learn anything until I went into the ring with Dempsey, but I learned plenty in that fight, and even if I did get stopped, I feel now that the lesson I learned was worth the sacrifice. I made a lot of mistakes in that fight just as I had made them in

Santa Ana Nine Off For Fracas At Border City

With the hope of "playing far over their heads," as about their only chance of keeping the score within reason, Santa Ana high school's baseball team was en route this afternoon for San Diego where tomorrow afternoon it virtually completes its disastrous diamond season with a melee with the border city nine.

Coach John Reed took fifteen players South. The men will return immediately after the game. Santa Ana, defeated overwhelmingly by Long Beach and Fullerton, had only the well known "prayer" to win.

LUCKY FIVES BEAT FULLER PAINT MEN

The Santa Ana Lucky Five bowling squad showed it had something besides good fortune at the A. and B. alleys last night when teams of the Boosters' league squared off for their ten-week league season.

The Lucky Five captured four points from the Fuller Paint company, second and third games and the team total. Their win in each tilt was decisive. Walker led the winners.

The Orange Standard Oils mingle with the Kelly Roofing company tonight. Last night's scores follow:

Fights and Fighters
NEW YORK—Pal Moran, New Orleans lightweight, and Louis Vicentini, Chilean champion, meet tonight in a fifteen round contest in Madison Square Garden. The winner may be matched with Benny Leonard for the world's title.

PHILADELPHIA—Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, will defend his title against Lew Tendler, Philadelphia, in a ten round decision contest here June 2.

TOLEDO—Mike O'Dowd, Columbus bantam, outpointed Harry Gordon, New York, by a slight margin in a ten round bout here last night.

SHORT SPORTS
Massing their attack in three innings, the Robins beat the Phils 10 to 4. Stock, new Robin third baseman, got three singles in five times up.

Rommel was knocked out of the box and the Red Sox beat the Athletics, 5 to 1.

Shaute dropped a throw at first base with two down and started a rally which enabled the White Sox to beat the Indians, 13 to 7.

Bunched hits in the third and sixth innings, gave the Pirates an 8 to 6 victory over the Cards.

other professional fights, but the difference was that they counted more against me in the Delaney fight than they did in the others. I'll never make the same mistakes again, and I have enough confidence in myself to feel that I'm going to get a long way in the ring when I have had the chance to acquire the instinct of knowing what to do and what not to do."

Berlenbach feels that he was rushed into the fast company with too much speed, but he assumes the responsibility for not having asserted himself by demanding the generally recognized privilege of a boxer to take a two or three-season course in the bush leagues before he had to face major league pitching. He feels that the New York Boxing commission exceeded its authority in practically naming his opponents, in arbitrarily ruling that his opponents must be within a pound of his own weight and in hounding him with orders and rules that never were on the books. He makes the serious charge that a deputy boxing commissioner flatly told him that he would have to fight Delaney when the promoter had offered him the choice of several other boxers, all of whom were less qualified against his style of fighting than Delaney. Rather than censure anyone or hold anyone responsible for these complaints, Berlenbach blames himself and explains: "I just didn't know anything about the game."

John D. Rockefeller's Santa Ana Standard Oil company hirelings today were rolling around in the second place berth of the Commercial bowling league following their "three-out-of-four" win at the expense of the Pacific Ready Cuts at the Broadway academy last night.

The Standards captured the first and second encounters and piled up enough points in these to garner the fourth digit for team score even by dropping the third match.

The Western Electric company quitted had one of its good nights and made a clean sweep of its series with the Bowles Motor company.

The Spanish-American War veterans collide with the Orange County Title company in one-half of tonight's feature. The Excelsior Creamery and the Hudson Crank Shafts furnish the rest of the fireworks.

BOWLING NOTES

Mrs. Grace Miller gave the Broadway academy bowling fans something to think about when she rolled scores of 156 and 157.

Bob Fernandez and Dettlinger are tied for the meal ticket offered for the week at the Broadway by the Home cafe. The both scored 242. Other high bowlers were Carl Marr with 235, Dick Miller with 224, McCorkindale with 220, Joe Steel with 213 and Harry Gaspar with 236 and 245.

Fernandez and Dettlinger will clash tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock to play off their tie for the meal ticket.

The Saddle Rock cafe will present the player making the highest score at the A. and B. alleys up to May 15 a meal ticket of substantial value. Loring Dale tops the field to date with a 219.

In a special match and the first of a three games series at the A. and B. alleys here last night, the two-man Hudson team, composed of Brenning and Wiley, defeated the Marmion bowlers, Wilson and Brown, by a score of 2 to 1. Brenning's 183 was high.

WILLARDS MAKE 28 MUFFS, LOSE 30-10

Julia Lathrop Team Wins "Comedy of Errors" Tilt From Foe

The Julia C. Lathrop junior high school baseball squad, headed by Coach Reel, decisively defeated the Frances E. Willard team in a struggle staged at Lincoln field yesterday afternoon.

The game was almost a track meet in favor of the Julia C. Lathrop eighth graders. When the dust had settled and the score keepers had finished their problems the verdict was 30 to 10 in favor of the Southsiders.

The Frances Willard squad made twenty-eight errors, believed to be a world record.

Cock and Hillgass starred for the Julia Lathrop squad. Rink featured for the losers.

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

by RUBY AYRES
© NEA SERVICE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proves an unhappy one. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly in the care of Mary Furnival. Nigel is killed and Dolly marries an old sweetheart, Robert Durham. Dolly and Robert sail for America, leaving Mary in Dolly's flat.

When Nigel's brother, David, calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary is ashamed to tell him of Dolly's marriage. David mistakes Mary for his brother's wife and asks her to come to live at Red Grange with him and his aunt.

News comes to Mary of the sinking of the boat on which Dolly and her husband left England. A young man who sees Mary's distress offers to go for news of the ship's passengers.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
She told him sobbingly:
"Mrs. Nigel Bretherton," then, remembering, hastily corrected herself. "I mean, Mrs. Robert Durham. Oh, she cannot, cannot be drowned."

"First reports are nearly always exaggerated," he said quickly, with kind hopefulness. "And the Maritane was not a very big steamer. She carried only a few passengers. I know. My brother came home from the Argentine on her last month. They may all be saved. You must hope for the best."

"Your mistress is wet through," he said. "See that she changes her clothes, and give her something hot to drink."

Mary had already gone on into the flat. She felt as if this last blow was more than she could bear; it seemed to crush her to the ground.

She was sitting in dumb misery in the cosy sitting-room when the small maid came in hurriedly with a steaming cup of cocoa.

"The gentleman said you were to drink this, miss, and that he'd be back as soon as he could. And your clothes so wet!"

She coaxed Mary to change, and stood over her while she drank the cocoa.

"I don't suppose it's any of it true," she maintained stoutly. "You can't believe a word of what them papers say."

Mary had to smile in spite of her wretchedness.

"It's only too true," she said. "Something tells me it's only too true."

CHAPTER XVII

No Hope

It seemed an eternity till a ring at the bell broke the silence. Mary herself went to open the door. One glance at the face of the man who stood there in the wet night told her that there was but little to hope for. She gave a little gasp, and leaned against the door with a feeling of sick giddiness.

"It's—it's true!" she asked faintly.

He answered reluctantly that he was afraid so. Of course, as yet details were not complete, but it was known that many of the passengers were drowned.

He would not come in when Mary asked him to, but he said he would be sure to let her know if he heard anything further that night.

"It is so kind of you," she told him. "I have no one else to help me. Will you—May I know your name?"

He colored boyishly.

"Evans—Henry Evans," he hesitated. "And may I know yours?" he asked diffidently.

"Mary—Mary Furnival."

She shook hands with him when he left; she stood at the door of the flat looking after him till he had disappeared down the long flight of stone steps.

Then she went back to the room, and cowered, shivering, over the fire.

Nigel dead! Dolly dead! Mary found herself wondering if, somewhere on the other side of the mystery we call death, husband and wife had met.

Such a few days had measured their separation, after all, and yet they had never loved each other. She rose stiffly when the fire had quite died out, and crept to bed.

Directly she woke in the morning she thought of the papers. Surely the truth would be known now!

The little maid brought them to her. Mary opened them with shaking fingers.

But only last night's news, with a few added details, was printed. But as the day dragged away further details crept out. A brief list of passengers and crew was published at the offices of the shipping company, where Mary, waiting wearily, hour after hour, watched the slowly added names with haggard eyes.

Somehow all her anger and bitterness against Nigel's wife was vanishing—wiped out by the merciless hand of Death.

And then she saw her name, and that of the man she had married, go up at the end of that short, incomplete list: "Durham (or Dunham), Mr. and Mrs. Robert—drowned."

She never knew how she got out of the office. She felt as if she were walking in space.

For the moment Mary's heart was dead and incapable of further suffering. She felt as if she had reached the end of her tether of endurance, and nothing mattered any more.

There were letters waiting for her when she got back to the flat, but she let them lie on the table unopened. She had forgotten David Bretherton and her own miserable indecision in the horror of this fresh tragedy.

It was only hours after their arrival that Mary opened those letters. One was a brief acknowledgment from the owner of the flat in reply to her own intimation that she wished to leave; and the other—Mary turned it over dully. She did not know the writing; but the postmark—

Her heart beat a little faster as she saw that. She broke open the flap.

The paper was expensive, and embossed with a heading—"The Red Grange."

"My dear child" (it began)—"David tells me that he has asked you to come here and live with us, so I am just writing to assure you of my very hearty welcome, both for your own sake and dear Nigel's. We will both do our very best to make you happy, and try and help you forget your sorrow.

"Come as soon as ever you like. I am having Nigel's room prepared for you. I thought you would like to have it."

"Perhaps you have not heard of me, but from what David has told me of you, I am sure we shall grow to love each other, and such is my sincerest wish."

"Believe me, my dear child, Yours affectionately,

"Nigel's Aunt Florence."

Aunt Florence! Nigel had spoken of her so often. He had loved her dearly. How good of her to write!

So they really wanted her! There was something in the simple warmth of the letter that felt like kindly hands outstretched to grasp her own.

Nigel's room! How dear of them to think of that!

But, of course, it could never be. Now she would have to finish that letter to David which she had begun only yesterday, and tell them the truth.

She folded the letter from the Red Grange, and thrust it out of her sight in a blotter. She resolutely walked from the room, determined to forget it.

But the insidious voice of temptation walked with her, whispering: "Why not? Why not?"

CHAPTER XVIII

An Experiment

MONTAGUE FISHER and David Bretherton had been friends ever since their school days, when Fisher had "tagged" for Bretherton, and adored him as a younger boy.

Now sometimes look up to and make a hero of an elder who is more brilliant and popular than himself.

When Bretherton came into the inheritance and rent-roll of Red Grange, one of the first things he did was to look up his old friend—then a young lawyer but just beginning to feel his way—and hand over his affairs for Fisher to deal with.

It was through him that Nigel's generous allowance had been paid while David was abroad, through him that the estates had been administered during their owner's absence.

But the old friendship between the two men still existed in spite of their business relations, and Fisher had been genuinely delighted to see David again.

He was thinking of him one morning as he sat in his office, signing letters that had been prepared for him by his typist.

By the early post he had heard from David to the effect that he had arranged for his brother's widow to come to Red Grange.

"We can but see how it works" (so he wrote), "Aunt Florence is quite willing for the experiment to be made. She entirely agrees with me that we ought to do everything in our power to help her now Nigel is gone."

"It's a mistake—I'm sure it's a mistake," Fisher said across the breakfast-table to his sister. "David hasn't seen the girl, and I have. I'm sure he'll regret having taken such a step."

"He can always send her away," said Dora idly.

She was breakfasting in a loose tea-gown, and her hair was carelessly dressed.

Now David was no longer in the house, she had reverted to her usual rather slovenly habits. She yawned as she spoke.

"What sort of a woman is she?" she asked, without much interest.

LONDON CLAIMS TO SET MEN'S FASHIONS

LONDON, May 2.—Men as they will be dressed in 1924!

At no time has the control of London over men's fashions in dress been more definitely established, and at no other time is that control likely to be of more importance than this spring, declared one of London's leading Savile Row clothes builders.

It is almost certain that the number of men from all over the world who will visit London this year in connection with the British Empire Exhibition will be greater than ever before, and practically every one of them, London tailors hope, will make an attempt, more or less complete, to bring himself in line with the latest London standard of the well-dressed man.

"Although New York has developed a line of its own in men's styles, most Americans have settled back definitely into an adherence to the Savile Row standards," this London style expert said.

"Men from the Dominions have always followed the English fashions. When our visitors come to replenish their wardrobes in London they will find lots of changes."

"For one thing, they will find patent shoes are now very fashionable for day wear as well as evening dress."

"In the matter of collars there has been a definite change. The white linen double collar has again been established as almost the only 'real' collar."

"Soft collars to match shirts have almost disappeared for town wear with smartly dressed men, although still worn in the country. The reason given for this being that the soft collar failed to maintain its appearance of smartness after an hour or two."

"Regarding head-gear; the light fawn soft hat, with band to match, with slightly wider well-rolled brim, has taken the place of the grey hat with the black band."

"In lounge suits, the gradual tendency is towards brighter colors, noticeable since the war, but the colors will be mostly blues and browns, with a few 'freak' shades of purple red or green."

"A fashion that has been growing for a year or so is the double-breasted jacket, and many of the fashionable suits are being made in this style. The waistline will still be definitely accentuated."

Monty hesitated.

"Well, I dare say you'd call her pretty—in a common sort of style," he said hesitatingly. "She's got rather good hair, reddish sort of color—Oh, yes, she's decidedly pretty. But there's something cheap about her. I don't know if it's her clothes or her manners, but I'm sure that she won't suit David for long."

"I shouldn't think David would suit her, either, if she's what you describe. She'll find the Red Grange dull, and David uninteresting."

Monty laughed rather ruefully.

"If she does, she'll be too clever to let him know it. She struck me as being the sort of woman who would sell her soul for money and luxury. Oh, no! I should say she'll settle herself there quite permanently. It's a pity. I told David what I thought about it; but you know what he is once he gets an idea into his head. He seems to imagine he's got a very strong duty towards this girl—a duty which might well be discharged with an allowance, I should have thought."

Stage and Screen

Lenore Ulric in a scene from "Tiger Rose," picture opening tonight at the Yost theatre.

YOST — Vaudeville and "Tiger Rose," with Lenore Ulric.

WALKER—Vaudeville and "Defying Destiny," with Monte Blue.

WEST END—"The Yankee Consul," with Douglas MacLean.

TEMPLE—"The Pendleton Round Up."

"TRIUMPH" COMING TO TEMPLE SUNDAY

The brows of a dignified dowager met in a puzzled frown as she peeped through the doors of the ballroom, the huge new Los Angeles Hotel Biltmore. Her eyes glanced amazedly at men in faultless dinner coats and beautifully groomed women, dining in the sun-drenched of midday; and her wonder grew as she saw uniformed waiters calmly entering with those they are supposed to serve!

And then someone told her it was just lunch time for the players in a colorful scene of "Triumph," Cecil B. DeMille's new picture, coming to the Temple theater for one week beginning Sunday.

Featured players in the picture are Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque, Victor Varconi, Charles Ogle, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff, Robert Edeson, Zasu Pitts, George Fawcett and Raymond Hatton.

"DEFYING DESTINY" OPENS ON WALKER SCREEN

Monte Blue has the leading male role in "Defying Destiny," which opened today at Walker's theater.

Blue, who scored heavily as the doctor in "Main Street," is assured an even greater success in this his most recent vehicle, if one can judge by the applause which greeted some of his scenes.

Irene Rich, who played opposite Blue, also deserves much credit for her sympathetic characterization of the wealthy girl, who, in spite of adverse public opinion, never loses her trust in, nor her love for, her unfortunate sweetheart.

The rest of the cast contains such noted artists as Tully Marshall, Jackie Saunders, Russell Simpson and Z. Wall Covington.

"TIGER ROSE" OPENS AT YOST TONIGHT

Even the hard-boiled critics can be depended on to relent and forget their acid-tinctured adjectives, when a real, honest-to-goodness star—a screen star, of course—swims into their ken. This happened at a luncheon tendered Lenore Ulric, heroine and star of "Tiger Rose," the screen version of the famous Belasco stage production which opens at the Yost theater tonight. Miss Ulric was to leave for Hollywood to film this play, and a group of critics had assembled.

Harriette Underhill, a noted writer of the screen, was completely captivated by her. She described Miss Ulric as follows:

"We think that Miss Ulric is a little beauty. She is so white and she has such big black eyes and curly black hair. It is very striking. And it is amazing that a star of her magnitude can be so unassuming, and so modest."

"THE YANKEE CONSUL" AT WEST END TONIGHT.

Twenty years or so ago, the "Great White Way" of New York had a musical comedy success with "The Yankee Consul" that kept the entire country laughing for five successive seasons. In the screen version which has given Douglas MacLean another laugh-roaring hit, the hero, in order to avoid much embarrassment and what he deemed subsequent disgrace, passes himself off as the Consul to rescue a young lady from the clutches of conspirators.

"The Yankee Consul" begins an engagement of six days tonight at the West End theater.

The fun sweeps into merry adventures when MacLean incurs the hatred of the villain and his accomplices, with thrilling hand-to-hand fights that recall some of the wildest melodramas of the stage.

As Dudley Ainworth the comedian has the role of a rich young New Yorker who sidesteps ease and luxury and goes to work to recover his health.

Patsy Ruth Miller plays opposite MacLean.

Legal Notice

ORDINANCE ORDERING IMPROVEMENT

Ordinance of the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana, ordering the improvement of North Syracuse Street in said city by the extending and opening as extended of said street, in accordance with the Ordinance of Intention Number 740, and ordering the City Attorney to bring an action in the name of the municipality for the condemnation of the property necessary or convenient to be taken therefor.

Whereas, heretofore, on the 25th day of January, 1924, the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana, duly and regularly passed its Ordinance of Intention No. 740, declaring the intention of said Board of Trustees to order the opening of North Syracuse Street between the North line of Fifteenth Street and the South line of Seventeenth Street, and the portion of said street already dedicated as a public thoroughfare, all as is more particularly set forth in said Ordinance of Intention No. 740; and

Whereas, said Ordinance was duly published according to law; and whereas, Notices of Public Work were duly posted according to law and as ordered by Ordinance of Intention No. 740, by the Street Superintendent of said City, and the affidavit of said Street Superintendent;

Whereas, said Street Superintendent caused a notice similar in substance to the notices so posted to be published by two (2) insertions in the Santa Ana Daily Evening Register, a daily newspaper printed, published and circulated in the City of Santa Ana, which newspaper was designated by said Board of Trustees for that purpose; all in accordance with and as required by law; and

Whereas, the City Clerk mailed postal cards in the manner and form required and directed by Ordinance of Intention No. 740, and by the Street Opening Act of 1903; and whereas, at the time and place set for protest, said City Clerk did not receive any protest against the said improvement; and the said Board of Trustees so found the fact to be and by their Resolution declared that there were no protests, and without the time within which protests might be filed against said improvement had expired;

Now, Therefore, the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana do ordain as follows:

SECTION I. That the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana hereby orders the said improvement to-wit, the extending and opening as extended of Syracuse Street in said city from the North line of Fifteenth Street to the South line of Seventeenth Street, excepting therefrom that portion of street already dedicated as a public thoroughfare, all as set forth and in accordance with the provisions of Ordinance No. 740 of said city.

SECTION II. Said Board of Trustees hereby directs an action to be brought by the City Attorney of said City of Santa Ana in the proper court to-wit, the Superior Court of the County of Orange, State of California, in the name of the municipality to-wit, the City of Santa Ana, for the condemnation of the property necessary or convenient to be taken for said improvement.

SECTION III. Reference is hereby made to said Ordinance No. 740, for a description of the property convenient or necessary to be taken for such improvement, and for the assessment of the same to be assessed for such improvement.

SECTION IV. Said action must be brought within sixty (60) days after the passage of this Ordinance, but the City Council may, by ordinance, extend the time for an additional period not exceeding ninety (90) days; said action shall be brought in accordance with an Act of the State of California, known as the Street Opening Act of 1903, and amendments thereto.

SECTION V. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this Ordinance, and shall cause the same to be published by three (3) insertions in the Santa Ana Daily Evening Register, a daily newspaper printed, published and circulated in the City of Santa Ana, and thirty (30) days after the date of publication of the Ordinance it shall take effect and be in force.

WITNESSES: Trustees McPhee, Collier, Neff and Tubbs.
NOES, Trustees, None.
ABSENT, Trustee Chapman.
The above and foregoing Ordinance is signed by me this 3rd day of March, 1924.

ODDS ON SMITH IN DEMOCRAT RACE DROP

NEW YORK, May 2.—The odds on Gov. Smith being nominated as Democratic candidate for the presidency have shortened materially in the last few days. W. L. Darrell & Co., Wall street betting commission, report a wager of $2,000 to $5,000. The odds on his election are two to thirteen.

NEWTON D. BAKER SEEN AS DEMOCRATIC DARK HORSE

ALBANY, N. Y., May 2.—Gov. Smith, returning to his desk at the capitol today, let it be known he was well pleased with the result of the primaries in Massachusetts, where he won two delegates.

A name previously unmentioned in Albany in connection with the presidential nomination was heard here following Smith's return. According to reports from Washington, Newton D. Baker, secretary of War in the Wilson administration, was being suggested as a dark horse for the nomination in the event that the Smith and McAdoo forces lock the convention. According to this information, Smith would then be suggested as a vice presidential candidate.

Smith's friends here, however, declined to discuss the possibility of Baker-Smith ticket.

BERGDOLL ABSENT AS STEAMER LANDS

NEW YORK, May 2.—Despite rumors and official confirmation from the war department, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll was not aboard the Columbus, North German Lloyd liner, which arrived from Germany.

The ship was met by officers upon arrival in quarantine. Every passenger was ordered presented. Government agents searched the vessel. They had an official notification from the United States army intelligence service, which said Bergdoll was aboard.

After a search lasting almost an hour, Colonel John L. Bond, in charge of the search, announced he was certain Bergdoll was not aboard.

Wintersburg-Smeltzer

Mrs. Sim Ten Eyck was in Santa Ana Sunday and visited while there her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gothard and family. Mrs. Gothard who for weeks was ill with typhoid fever, having suffered a relapse also is sufficiently recovered to be able to do all her own house work again and the two little boys, Marvin and Paul, who have also been typhoid patients, the former having been ill since in January, are both able to be up and about now.

Mrs. Belle Clemens of Santa Ana was a visitor over Saturday and Sunday at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. James Brown.

Charles Johnson and children of Wilmington were week-end guests of Johnson's sister-in-law, Mrs. Sem Ten Eyck and family. Johnson, who has been quite ill for weeks and in the hospital but recently planned on going back to his work Monday.

Mrs. Henry Powell and small son who were visitors for the week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gothard left for their home at Colton Sunday evening.

Cecil Soden and Earl Johnson spent Sunday at Palmdale. Mr. and Mrs. David Russell motored to Los Angeles Tuesday evening taking to her home Mrs. Russell's sister, Mrs. Dale Ellis who spent several days at the Russell home.

Roy Hurst of Santa Ana spent from Friday until Sunday as a guest at the home of his aunt, Mrs. David Russell and family.

Mrs. G. M. Roberson has just received word that a cousin, Miss Kate Scharnock of Wheeling, West Virginia, expects to leave for California within a few weeks. It has been many years since Mrs. Roberson last met her cousin and she is anticipating a summer of pleasure in her company. Miss Scharnock writes that Mrs. Riley, who was a houseguest for some time of Mrs. Roberson during a visit in this state a few years ago at which time a number here made her acquaintance, is gradually improving from the effects of a broken hip which she sustained in a fall down stairs last summer. Mrs. Riley, Miss Scharnock states has left her home at Wheeling for the present and is with a daughter at Barnesville, W. Va., as she is still on crutches and does not get about well. She is gaining but slowly as a result of her advanced age.

John Soden in company with a party of friends from Huntington Beach formed a theater party Saturday evening.

Mrs. Fay Soden, Miss Lucille Soden, Arthur Murdy, David Russell and his guest, Roy Hurst of Santa Ana and Harold Jones of Santa Ana, retiring president of the Wintersburg Methodist Epworth League attended as local representatives Saturday evening the sub-district rally of Young Peoples' societies which was held at Garden Grove. The rally was a forerunner of the sub-district convention which is to meet Friday evening, May 8 at the Wintersburg Methodist church.

Notice of the indefinite postponement of the district Epworth League convention at San Diego this week as a result of the quarantine for the hoof and mouth disease brought disappointment to numbers of local leaguers, as practically all of the members had planned on motoring down Friday evening and remaining over until Sunday.

The Winters oil well situated in the heart of Wintersburg is assuming the proportions of a bonafide oil well the drilling having progressed to the depth of 1000 feet last Saturday.

Another picture show is being given by the Oceanview school Friday evening of this week in the auditorium. "The Ruling Passion" is the screen play by George Arliss to be shown and will be supplemented by a comedy, "Farmer Alfalfa and His Wayward Pup."

This show is one of a series which are being given during the school term, the school moving picture machine being used. It is possible there may be one other show given before the close of the school term.

Members of the Methodist congregation of Wintersburg met on Wednesday at the church for their annual "clean-up" day when both men and women employ their time in adding to the attractiveness of the church buildings and surroundings.

As the church was so recently redecorated but little work was needed there and efforts centered on the social hall where a second coat of paint was added to the interior and the men of the party put the yards in splendid shape.

The party gathered enjoyed together at the noon hour a sumptuous pot luck dinner which they brought with them and besides the assurance of a good work well done they carried home with them the remembrance of a pleasant picnic as well.

Mr. and Mrs. Seal and family of ten left this week for Colorado to reside. While residents here the Seal family have resided in the George Crane house located near the Springdale school.

Almost all of the local high school young people together with numbers of the patrons and friends of the school went from here Saturday to Huntington Beach to attend the Southern California high school track meet which was held on the Huntington Beach track where the H. B. H. S. won third place, with Hollywood first and Los Angeles, second; Elliott and Bradbury of this place were contestants and Alfred Stinson was a class C contestant in the pole vault but suffered a sprained ankle at the beginning of the meet and could not qualify.

W. T. Vanduff who was in attendance at the track meet had the experience of his pockets being rifled by a pickpocket who was working in the crowd that day. It happened Vanduff discovered the hand in his pocket before anything was taken but the thief escaped before he could be apprehended.

Mrs. Dave Johnson left Wednesday for Taft to spend a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Herman Robertson formerly of this place. Mrs. Johnson went Tuesday to Los Angeles going north in company with her son Lloyd Johnson and wife.

The condition of Mrs. Oram who is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Vanduff is unchanged. Mrs. Bennett of the Blaylock track who has been very ill is very much improved.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Goodner Nichols who has been ill with pneumonia is almost well again.

It is announced that the next Ladies' Aid society meeting is to be held May 14th with Miss E. Ray Moore, president and her sister, Mrs. W. W. Forrest as co-hostesses.

The W. F. Slater home was quarantined for scarlet fever Monday, the eldest daughter June having the disease. June was taken ill Friday evening after returning from school. She is now isolated to an upstairs room in care of a trained nurse and every precaution is being taken that other members of the family may not contract the disease. June is doing nicely, not having the disease in the most severe form it is said.

A PUZZLE A DAY

A merchant had two grades of olive oil, and sold 30 cans of the better grade at the rate of 2 cans for a dollar. He sold 50 cans of the cheaper grade at 3 cans for a dollar, and realized a total of $25 on the day's sale.

Realizing that he had been selling at the rate of 5 cans for two dollars, he ordered a new stock, 30 cans of each, and mixed the oils. He sold the new stock at 5 cans for two dollars, but at the end of the day, when he was sold out, he found that his receipts were only $24. What became of the extra dollar?

EVENING SALUTATION

But I can live
A life that tells on other lives, and makes
This world less full of evil and of pain—
A life which, like a pebble dropped at sea,
Sends its wide circles to a hundred shores.
Let such be mine! Creator of true life!
—Horatius Bonar.

OUR TARIFFS INVOLVED

"All be (Senator Hiram Johnson) asked was assurance that our cause was a just one, and he then promised to do everything he could for us. Since that time our fight has been his fight. He has worked for us incessantly, day and night, interviewing Senators and importuning and insisting that the finance committee give our industries adequate protection.

"I feel absolutely certain that had it not been for the very great influence of Senator Johnson in the United States Senate we would have gotten very little consideration in our walnut and citrus tariff."

The above quotations are from a letter to Dr. D. W. Mott of Santa Paula. They were written by C. C. Teague, president of the California Fruit Growers Exchange and president of the California Walnut Growers' association.

Mr. Teague was a member of the committee representing the citrus and walnut associations sent to Washington to present the needs of California industries for a protective tariff. Mr. Teague stated that while others gladly assisted in our tariffs, the committee relied principally upon Senator Johnson to look after them in the United States Senate.

"He was our Senior Senator" wrote Mr. Teague, "and it takes a long service before a Senator is in position to do efficient work."

Carlyle Thorpe, general manager of the Walnut Growers' association said:

"Senator Johnson enlisted the aid of other western representatives and fought hard and long for the cause of the walnut growers. We owe him an everlasting debt of gratitude for his work in behalf of the walnut industry."

A letter by the late G. Harold Powell, sent to the Central Lemon Growers' association, dated March 18, 1921, referring to fresh lemons, stated:

"Through Senator Johnson we were able to secure a two-cent rate when the Emergency tariff was before the Senate, notwithstanding the fact that both House and Senate committees had approved a rate of a cent and a quarter.

"It took very strong effort on Senator Johnson's part, and I think it would be well if you would send Senator Johnson a note, expressing the appreciation of your association of his efforts in behalf of the citrus industry."

He then advised the association to have the local Chamber of Commerce and individual growers write the Senator letters of appreciation.

And thus, from the leaders of two of California's great industries "we owe Senator Johnson an everlasting debt of gratitude."

We ask this question: Why was Senator Johnson able to get the tariffs that California wanted? Not only because he was a big, powerful fighter, but also because at Washington it was known that Senator Johnson had the confidence of the people of California, because at Washington it was recognized that HE HAD THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA BACK OF HIM.

If we are to preserve the forcefulness of our fight at Washington for our tariffs, we must make it known at Washington in every way possible that we are back of our representatives who are there fighting our battles for us.

If California fails to give Senator Johnson a big, convincing vote next Tuesday, the importers of New York will consider it an invitation to open up their guns on California tariffs. All they want is an excuse to begin fire. They are waiting now to hear from California.

RECORD WORLD SUGAR

World sugar production this year is forecast at 21,600,000 short tons, in reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture. Production last year was 20,400,000 short tons. The previous high record was 21,000,000 short tons in 1913-14.

The forecast 1923-24 production is 71 per cent cane sugar and 29 per cent beet sugar, whereas in 1913-14 nearly 50 per cent of the total supply was beet sugar of which more than 90 per cent was of European origin.

The figures show the necessity for reasonable tariff protection of American beet sugar to save the American beet grower from the ruinous competition of cheap foreign labor.

TRI-COUNTIES HARBOR

We have been calling the harbor at Newport Bay sometimes Newport Harbor and sometimes Orange County Harbor. We ought to use a name that shows its real significance, for when it is developed it will be a harbor for an area much larger than any city or county.

Riverside and San Bernardino counties recognize it as a logical harbor for their counties. They are to be represented at the hearing to be held here next Monday. Indicating the viewpoint of residents of Riverside county, the Riverside Press has the following in its editorial columns:

SHOULD IMPROVE NEWPORT HARBOR

Riverside county will be well represented at the hearing in Santa Ana next Tuesday on the improvement of Newport harbor and with good reason for the people of this county would be greatly benefited in the event that Newport became a commercial port. The Press recently received a shipment of paper through the Panama canal that totaled over a hundred tons. This was landed at San Pedro and every roll of it was trucked to Riverside. It would have been much more convenient and economical to bring that paper from Newport because the distance is less and the congested traffic of Los Angeles would have been avoided. Other business men besides the Press are receiving shipments in the same way and they would welcome the opportunity of having them delivered at Newport.

Oranges and lemons are being trucked from Riverside county to San Pedro for water shipment east, or to England; and it would be quicker and cheaper to send them to Newport. These facts are cited just to stress the practical value of this port to Riverside county if once it were developed.

The port of San Pedro is crowded already and with the assured growth of Southern California additional harbor facilities are imperative. San Diego has a splendid natural harbor but that port is too far away to serve this section. Newport is the only place available for the enlarged facilities that will soon be urgently needed. The government should co-operate with Orange county in making Newport a real harbor. There are no natural obstacles; in fact the natural conditions are better than at San Pedro.

Riverside county stands ready to help in any way possible in the campaign for government recognition.

San Bernardino city papers have frequently had endorsement of the harbor project. A few days ago, the Redlands Facts had the following, under the heading "We Need that Harbor":

All the interior section as we term San Bernardino and other counties which do not border on the coast, and which lie east and south of Los Angeles, is mightily interested in the outcome of the hearings which are a necessary preliminary to the building of a harbor down at Newport Beach.

We recall as a bit of history that the lumber for the first house built in Redlands was freighted by boat into Newport Bay and there unloaded, to be hauled overland by horses to Redlands. Indeed, it is not a long time since we were accustomed to seeing one or two ocean going coast vessels tied up at the wharf at Newport, either unloading lumber or some other product of the coast, or taking on some kind of shipments for other places. The last dozen or so of years, however, there has been nothing of that kind, and when that section doubtless fills a fine place in the resort life of this section of the country, one wonders if it would not be a welcome innovation for this part of the interior if trading vessels were again serving us there, perhaps helping in equalizing freight rates. It requires no great stretch of one's imagination to think of ships sailing from Newport Harbor, loaded with oranges for the Atlantic coast, and loaded with fruit hauled direct to the Pacific coast from there and packing houses here. And certainly our great industry needs every help that may possibly come its way.

Farm Readjustments

Stockton Independent

A survey made by the Department of Agriculture shows "a drift out of wheat into livestock, a trend away from beef cattle to dairy cattle, a big increase in poultry, in the production of feed crops and a general movement toward diversification in localities where diversification has not been common heretofore."

Thus the American farmer is readjusting himself to the new economic situation. And such efforts, though possibly slower and more difficult than the enactment of legislation to help the farming population, are likely to be more effective in the long run. They have the merit of working in harmony with economic law, instead of against it as legislation often does.

As a general thing, when wheat-growing ceases to pay, farmers have in their own hands the obvious remedy of raising less wheat and more foodstuffs. This serves the double purpose of raising the price of wheat, through comparative scarcity, and producing other crops for which there is a better market. And in this way, individuals and sections that can easily substitute other crops are not only helping themselves but helping wheat-growers who cannot advantageously raise anything else.

The trend toward dairy cattle, poultry and fruits is especially timely and wise. The demand for these classes of products increases steadily, and more rapidly than the population, as the people form more wholesome habits of diet.

Governor Sent to Jail

Long Beach Press

When the governor of a great commonwealth of this American Union is convicted in open court, and largely upon his own testimony—of using the United States mails to defraud, it is time that voters took to heart the great responsibility that rests upon them. That honored old commonwealth hangs its head in shame today, because of the unpleasant notoriety attending the prosecution of its chief executive, and his subsequent conviction. The prompt verdict of the federal jury and the scathing denunciation given by the United States judge leave no doubt as to guilt. Either the convicted governor must resign or else he must be removed from office by impeachment.

Contemplating this deplorable episode in American political life, it is pertinent to make the general observation that too much care cannot be exercised in nominating and electing men to public office. It is true that the experience of Indiana seldom is duplicated in this country. But the very fact that such things MAY happen, stresses the importance of voters being vigilant in primaries and nominating conventions, and at the polls on election day. Extreme care should be exercised to name for public place only men of recognized probity—men of character above reproach.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

THE OLD FOLKS
A physician called in to see a woman sixty-seven years of age, who was afflicted with a stiff knee joint on the right side, and a stiff hip joint on the left. Her hands were somewhat crippled but she was able to handle a cup of tea. Her health otherwise was pretty fair. Her appetite was good, she could get around the house without crutches, and her mind was as bright as it had ever been.

The physician advised that she walk about the house more, try to wash a few dishes, and do other little chores. The use of the body and joints with a little massage was all that was necessary to keep her "a going." Did she follow his advice? No!

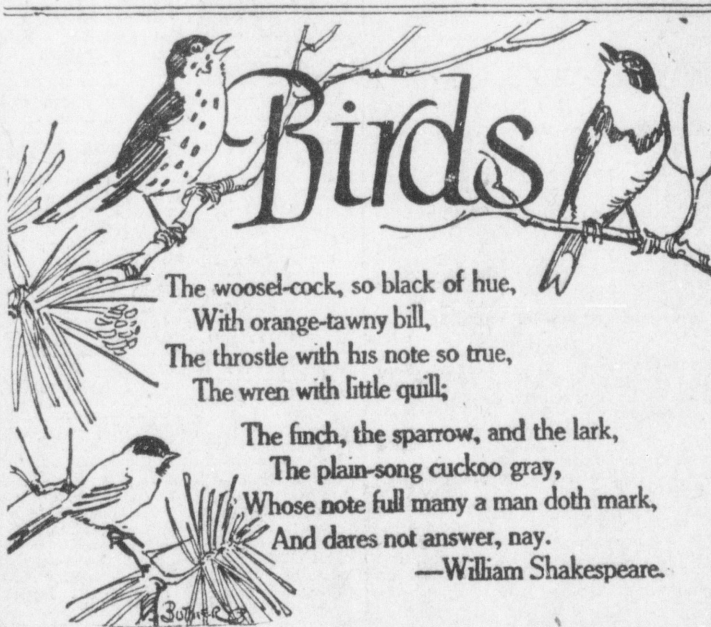

Her family were very anxious to have her comfortable. They didn't want or need her help about the house. And she herself was inclined to agree with the suggestions of the family that she make herself "real comfortable," and not move the joints at all. So she began to remain in bed until noon every day. Then she would stay in bed all day two or three days a week. She has lost her appetite, sleeps very little, and has lost many pounds in weight, and her joints are now so stiff that she couldn't walk if she wanted to do so.

What is my point? That it is a mistaken kindness to allow "rheumatic" stiff jointed people to take to bed. And it might be just as well if we did not let our elderly people also take to bed too soon. You have often seen it, where mothers or fathers, grown somewhat old, were encouraged to "rest" themselves. This very "resting" is their undoing, because their real troubles of digestion and circulation are set up.

You can readily see that when they are up and dressed, they are encouraged to move around, to actually go for a walk. Their mind and body both get an opportunity to function. The appetite is maintained, and the intestine does not become sluggish. The biggest point of all is that they keep the heart strong. This maintaining of the strength of the heart is most important, because circulation remains sufficient to carry them along for years, whereas if they go to bed and allow the heart muscle to become weak, any disturbance such as indigestion or bronchitis will be such a tax upon the heart that they may not pull through.

My idea is not that old folks should be made to work. They have earned the right to do as they like. But sometimes a little encouragement on your part will help them to move around more, and they will thus be brighter mentally, and stronger physically.

An Act That Never Flivvers

Profit in Reading

San Francisco Journal

Reading maketh the man as physical exercise maketh the strong man. The man who is training and hardening his body does not carry away from the gymnasium the apparatus, but only the strength and endurance the exercises gives him. Nor is it what we take away from a book and store in the mind that gives us knowledge so much as it is the exercise of our mental powers in the reading.

The real advantage gained from books is from their suggestiveness. A good book is one that acts as a spark to latent thoughts. If there be any explosive material in a man a stimulating book will give it life and direction. Franklin's whole life was changed by a chance reading of Cotton Mather's "Essay to Do Good." Lincoln devoured Weems' "Life of Washington." Dr. Charles W. Eliot announces that the pleasantest part of his ninetieth birthday celebration was the receipt of hundreds of letters from unknown friends who credited to his writings great changes in their own lives and viewpoints.

There are few influences in life that have such power to lift the humble plodder out of his rut as have books. Forty million copies of Elbert Hubbard's "Message to Garcia" were printed and distributed. It has been translated into every major language on earth. It has taught thousands the reward of initiative.

The poor, the wretched, the sick and the sorrowing find inspiration and companionship in books. The most welcome of gifts to the prisoner is a book or a magazine. Hospitals are constantly calling for donations of printed matter. Books bring light into darkness and sunshine into shadow.

Worth While Verse

CONCORD HYMN

(Sung at the Completion of the Battle Monument, April 19, 1836.)

By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood,
And fired the shot heard round the world.

The foe long since in silence slept;
Alike the conqueror silent sleeps;
And Time the ruined bridge has swept
Down the dark stream which seaward creeps.

On this green bank, by this soft stream,
We set today a votive stone;
That memory may their deed redeem,
When, like our sires, our sons are gone.

Spirit, that made those heroes dare
To die, and leave their children free,
Bid Time and Nature gently spare
The shaft we raise to them and thee.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Tom Sims Says

Quickest way to reduce is to weigh on a coal dealer's scales. A giant dirigible will start from Germany for the United States this spring, perhaps followed by an enormous casualty list.

Oklahoma woman shot a neighbor for listening in on the telephone, but all of us can't do that.

Many Advances for Science During 1923

Living Age

Writing in the organ of the Labor party, the London Daily Herald, Julian Huxley of New College, Oxford, summarizes briefly the chief achievements in all branches of science during the last year.

It is a startling list for a single twelvemonth to produce, and Prof. Huxley, whose new book, "Essays of a Biologist," appeared a month or two ago, is one of the few men sufficiently catholic in his scientific interests to be able to write it.

Among other achievements he notes the discovery of fossil dinosaur eggs in Mongolia by the American Museum of Natural History's expedition; the placing of insulin treatment on a practical basis; the new Dreyer treatment of the tubercle bacillus; the investigation of the effects of light rays on health; the discovery of German chemists of "Bayer 205," a new drug which cures sleeping sickness; progress in the chromosome theory of heredity; progress in cancer research; remarkable studies in changes of sex at Edinburg; and Dr. Voronoff's experiments with the prolongation of life in Paris.

Of special interest to the general biologist in 1923 has been the development of two lines of research which offer increased evidence for the inheritance of acquired characteristics, the very thing most strenuously denied by the extreme Darwinian school, although repeatedly admitted by Darwin himself.

Dr. Kammerer of Vienna has received more attention than the other experimenter, the veteran Russian physiologist, Pavlov, who appears to have been able to produce in one generation of mice a mental effect which reproduces itself for several generations afterward.

"Lucky," says Prof. Huxley, "both Pavlov's and Kammerer's experiments can easily be repeated and tested. This is now in progress."

U. S. Health

It costs more to operate the U. S. Marine Hospitals than it used to, according to a statement made by Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming of the U. S. Public Health Service. There are three times as many patients as there were in 1918, and hospital care costs about twice as much.

Our country is growing, the population is increasing, and the tonnage of the American Merchant Marine swelled from 11,883,437 tons in 1914 to 28,886,212 in 1922. More merchant seamen apply to the Marine Hospitals for treatment. The U. S. Coast Guard alone required 41,681 hospital relief days and 32,530 outpatient treatments last year from the Public Health Service, which in addition detailed medical officers aboard all the cruising cutters and furnished 97 contract physicians to serve the life-saving stations remote from Marine hospitals and out-patient offices.

New classes of beneficiaries have also been added in recent years. The Employees' Compensation Commission, whose first patients were admitted to Marine hospitals in 1916, required 26,722 hospital relief days, 91,144 outpatient treatments, and 12,288 physical examinations in 1923. The commission furnishes one-sixth of all Marine hospital patients and one-third of the dispensary patients. The value of these medical services has been estimated by the Employees' Compensation Commission as more than $1,000,000 annually. In 1921, all lepers in the United States became beneficiaries of the Public Health Service. Last year 66,736 hospital relief days were given at the National Leper Home (U. S. Marine Hospital No. 66), Carville, Louisiana, a station which alone costs over $273,000.00 per year to operate. Immigrants detained for sickness or observation required 122,480 hospital relief days last year, 11,669 such patients being treated, chiefly at the Marine hospital, Ellis Island, New York, a station whose operation in 1923 cost more than $500,000.

Dr. Cumming alluded to statistics published by the Bureau of Labor, which show that the price level of major necessities averaged 70 per cent higher than in 1913 and stated that the improved standards of living now prevailing also reflect themselves in every detail of hospital management, including the wages of personnel. The employment of trained female nurses alone adds approximately $500,000 annually to the operating costs of Marine hospitals, which are, however, lower than those of civilian hospitals providing the same character of service. The per diem cost per patient in 1923 was $4.08, which includes all salaries of surgeons, regular and special nurses, and other personnel, food for patients and attendants, light, heat and power, repairs to buildings, and some items not included by private hospitals in their cost reckoning. That other hospitals have had a similar financial experience is evidenced by the fact that the majority of civil institutions show an increase of approximately 100 per cent in their operating costs over those of prewar days.

Today's Birthdays

Owen J. Roberts, the Philadelphia lawyer named by President Coolidge as an investigator in the oil lease cases, born at Germantown, Pa., 49 years ago today.

Charles H. Sloan, a former Nebraska representative in congress, born at Monticello, Iowa, 61 years ago today.

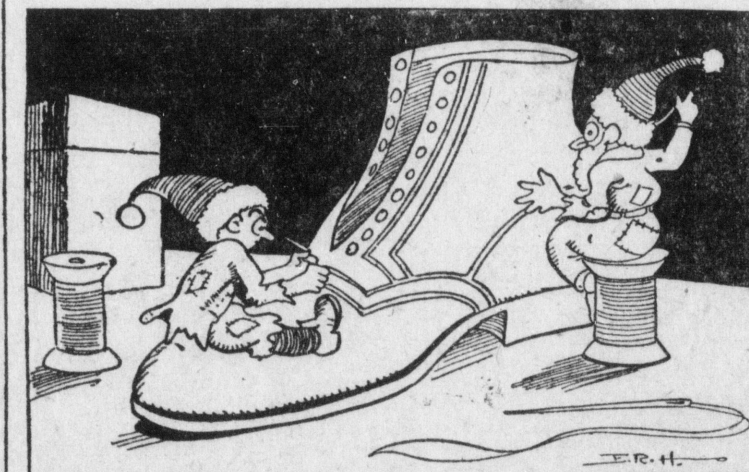

James F. Byrnes, the South Carolina congressman who has announced his candidacy for the senate, born at Charleston, S. C., 45 years ago today.

One Year Ago Today

Germany offered the Allies, as reparations, 20,000,000,000 gold marks to be paid by 1931 with aid of external loans.

NO. 16—THE POOR COBBLER

The next time Mister Muggs took the Twins in Once-Upon-A-Time Land was to see the Poor Cobbler.

Although indeed he was not poor now. He was very, very rich and needed to cobble no longer for a living.

However, riches had not spoiled him, and he was out in the yard under a tree smoking his old pipe and blowing great puffs of smoke into the air.

"We came to see you and your good wife," called Mister Muggs when he had parked the little car outside the gate. "May we come in?"

"Of course, of course!" said the kindly cobbler. "Come right in and I'll call Sally and we can have a party. I think she has just made some fresh cookies, and the Jersey cow gives rich milk."

After Nancy had had six cookies and Nick eight, the cobbler told his story.

"We were very, very poor," he said. "Somehow or other everything had gone wrong. Sometimes I was sick, sometimes both of us together. Our savings in the tea-pot on the mantel got less and less, and finally disappeared completely."

"Well, at last there was only enough leather left for one pair of shoes. Late one night I cut them out, and then went to bed so I could get up early in the morning and finish the work."

"The next morning when I went into my shop, there lay the shoes on my bench all finished to the last stitch, and sewed so neatly that I got twice the price for them I usually did.

"I lost no time buying enough leather for two pairs of shoes. Next morning there they were, ready to the last button, although I had done nothing but cut them out."

"This went on for many nights, each night the mysterious visitor sewing twice as fast as when he had the night before. I became the richest man in town."

"My wife and I decided to watch, so one night we hid behind the door, and at 12 o'clock two ragged little men came, no bigger than my hand. They jumped up on the work bench and began to sew. They must have been fairies, for never have I seen shoes made so fast. A stitch and a snip and they were done."

"We said to ourselves, 'Tit for tat. The little fellows need clothes. Perhaps that is what they are working for.' So next day my wife made two tiny suits and knitted two tiny jackets and caps and laid them beside the leather."

"Then we watched again. The little men came and when they saw the new clothes they shouted for joy. Then they put the things on and disappeared. We have never seen them since."

"But a queer thing happened. I had bought some green leather—enough for two pairs of shoes. It disappeared with them."

"They must have made magic shoes and given them to the Fairy Queen," said Nancy. "And she gave them to us."
